

State Jobless Fund Aiding Unemployed

Reserve Balance Nearly Highest In Program's 24-Year History; $11,000,000 Paid in Two Months

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — What its managers describe as one of the soundest of such funds in the country is pushing large sums into the economic bloodstream of Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin unemployment compensation fund, made up by contributions on payrolls of more than 30,000 employers, representing more than 850,000 employees, now amounts to more than $250,000,000.

The reserve balance is nearly the highest in the 24 year history of the unemployment benefit insurance program. Relatively heavy withdrawals for benefits during the last two months have reduced the all-time high reserves with which the program started this year.

Earning Experience
During January and February the fund paid out about $11,000,000 in benefits, relatively large amounts because of unemployment increases.

The greatest payments in the history of the fund were made during 1954, when a total of about $40,000,000 was disbursed. Benefits are paid according to the earning experience of the covered worker and the duration of his employment. The present maximum payment is $38, which is available for a maximum of 26 and one half weeks. The state ranks about 16th in the country in the ratio of its maximum benefits to average wages in covered employment.

Currently the ratio of maximum payments to estimated average covered wages is about 44 per cent. The ratio has remained relatively constant in recent years, as the legislature has increased maximum payments under the law to take into account inflationary trends, including higher average wages.

Covered Wage
The soundness of a fund is related not only to the size of its reserves when measured against its liabilities, but also by the ratio of the reserve to annual covered wage payments in a state.

The Wisconsin fund now has reserves equal to about 10 per cent of yearly covered payrolls of Wisconsin employers, which is the fourth most favorable ratio among the states of the country. Some jurisdictions have ratios as low as one and two.

The Wisconsin job benefit insurance program was enacted in 1934 but payments were not made until 1936. The first maximum benefit law provided for weekly benefits of $150 for a maximum period of 13 weeks.

Former Figure in Court Martial Dies of Cancer

Washington — Lt. Col. James A. Kilian, central figure in a sensational 1946 court martial stemming from brutality to prisoners in a World War II replacement depot in England, died yesterday at Walter Reed hospital.

Death of the 67-year-old retired army officer was attributed to cancer. Kilian, wartime commander of the U. S. army replacement depot at Lichfield, England, was convicted by a military court of permitting brutality to army prisoners at the depot guardhouse. He was fined $500 and reprimanded after his trial at Bad Nauheim, Germany, in August 1946.

Kilian, one of several officers and enlisted men convicted during a lengthy, stormy court martial of brutality at Lichfield, contended he knew nothing about the mistreatment.

"There must be been something wrong at Lichfield which was concealed from me," he said during the trial. "It looks like they have passed the ball to the old man."

Court martial witnesses testified prisoners were struck with clubs and fists, kicked in the body, and forced to stand with nose and toes pressed against a wall for extended periods.

Jumps From Fourth Floor to Escape Fire

See Improved Chances for 4-Cent Stamp

Senate Conferees Named to Debate Postal Regulation

Washington — Chances for a final victory for the 4-cent letter stamp over a 5-cent rate appeared improved today by the choice of senate conferees on postal rate-pay legislation.

Republican senate leaders grumbled privately over the make-up of the conferees but said they had decided against any floor fight on the matter.

The senate yesterday named only three conferees on the bill — Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) of the senate post-office committee and Sens. Monroney (D-Okla.) and Carlson (R-Kan.). Republicans said the number of conferees is usually five.

Floor Fight
Johnston and Monroney both were strong proponents of a flat 4-cent rate for letters instead of the higher figure asked by President Eisenhower.

Carlson led the successful floor fight for the administration's position. The senate voted 49-42 for the 5-cent rate on non-local letters and 4 cents on local mail, with the 5-cent stamp limited to three years. The current rate is 3 cents.

Carlson said he did not believe the setup necessarily would mean the defeat of the 5-cent stamp. Carlson said the conference had many complicated issues to face, including other rate changes and senate inclusion of pay increases of about $737 million annually for the 500,000 postal workers.

The house last year voted for $527 million worth of rate hikes including a flat 4-cent letter rate, but has not acted on a postal pay raise.

Substitute Plan
The senate voted an average 12 1/2 per cent pay boost for the postal employees.

This is far higher than Republican leaders have said Eisenhower will accept, although Carlson himself offered an 8 1/2 per cent raise on the floor as a substitute for the Democratic 12 1/2 per cent plan.

Senators on both sides have said the pay boost probably will be scaled down in conference to some figure that might avoid a veto of the bill.

Carlson said his position would be that the White House is apt to accept a more generous pay figure if the 5-cent stamp is left in the bill.

Army May Have New Nuclear Explosive Kits

Report Contains Cryptic Reference to Atomic Demolition Device for Sabotage

Seized After Firing 3 Times At Automobile

Mosinee — A Marathon county man was disarmed by sheriff's officers Wednesday night after he had fired three shotgun blasts at a car and several more while standing outside of a tavern from which he was ejected.

Taken into custody was a man identified by Sheriff Walter Wolf as Max Gasda, 50, who lives about 10 miles east of here.

Wolf said Gasda was asked to leave the tavern after he had purchased a bottle of wine but was told by the owner he could not drink it there. Gasda was quoted as saying he was going home for his gun, but would return and "shoot up the place."

His car was found in a ditch about a mile from his house, and police theorized that he went to his home on foot, picked up the weapon and shells and began walking back to the tavern.

As he returned a group of patrons who had been in the tavern saw him and told Wolf he fired three shots at their car. Passed. At the tavern he fired several shots outside but did not enter the building. The patrons fell to the floor and none was injured.

Vanguard I Sour Grapefruit To Communist Press, Radio

Washington — As far as the communist press and radio test satellite, saying Vanguard I is a "jocularly described as just a sour grapefruit-sized satellite."

The navy's successful launching of its tiny test moon is being reported behind the iron curtain.

But the reports from Moscow, Peiping and other communist places emphasize Vanguard's past failures. They give short shrift to the Vanguard's success last Monday.

The communist East German report started out with the record Vanguard's earlier failures "After several abortive attempts . . ."

impeding his advance in a war zone.

They have to be small, perhaps almost small enough to be carried in a suitcase.

Cryptic reference to the "atomic demolition material" is contained in an otherwise routine, non-secret regulation issued recently.

Developed Jointly
Officials declined to discuss the matter, other than to confirm the existence of the atomic demolition equipment, as mentioned in the regulation, a year ago in and to say it was developed jointly by army ordnance and the atomic energy commission.

However, there were some obvious points. Demolition is a function of the corps of army engineers. Thus, atomic demolition would be handled by the engineer specialists.

Since demolition normally is not a procedure needed at home, it is to be presumed the A-kits are available as part of the American nuclear arsenal at overseas points from which counter measures would be launched in a war with Russia.

To be of any value, atomic demolition material would have to be highly transportable by a few men, moving about under cover or under pressure from an advancing enemy.

For big demolition jobs, large, bulky quantities of TNT and other standard explosives have been required.

Rebuild Damage
With conventional explosives, a large bridge is toppled by blowing away piers and other supporting equipment. An enemy can rebuild such damage quickly.

But an atomic explosion, even of the comparatively low-yield blasts presumably designed into the A-kits, would blow a bridge or tunnel to bits, destroying all the structure and its abutments. Similarly, a single atomic shot would collapse a long length of said today. The federal constitution or blow apart even a large factory or railroad marshaling yard.

Conviction of Langley Upheld

Rules Oregon District Attorney Failed to Prosecute Gambling

Portland, Ore. — Conviction of Dist. Atty. William Langley on a charge of deliberate failure to prosecute gambling was upheld yesterday by the Oregon supreme court.

Langley, 42, was removed from office one year ago in and for trials of Portland's vice investigation.

The former chief legal officer of Multnomah county (Portland) appealed the conviction, contending he was deprived of a fair trial because photographers were permitted in the courtroom and because the gambling in question was for charity and therefore, legal.

The opinion by Justice Hall S. Lusk deplored the photographers' presence in the court but said this was not an error on which Langley's conviction could be reversed.

The opinion also said that Langley should have moved against the gambling which took place at a party given by a paint dealers association to raise charity funds.

Langley, who recently filed for Democratic nomination to regain the job of district attorney, said he would appeal to the U.S. supreme court.

Two other state charges still are pending against Langley, accusing him of conspiracy to hinder and obstruct justice and conspiracy to take a bribe.

Separate Votes

Baghdad, Iraq — Iraq and Jordan will keep separate votes in the United Nations. Similarly, a single atomic shot would collapse a long length of said today. The federal constitution or blow apart even a large factory or railroad marshaling yard.

Bulganin Letter Claims Allies Prepare for War While Delaying Meeting

West's Most Prolific 'Pen Pal' Makes Charge in Note to British

London — The western allies' most prolific and most troublesome pen pal charged today that the west is rushing war preparations while delaying a summit conference by insisting on discussion of unacceptable terms.

Soviet Premier Bulganin's fresh wording of old demands and accusations came in another letter to Prime Minister Macmillan, made public today.

Bulganin gave no hint that the Kremlin is willing to modify its conditions for the summit talks which it proposed originally. Progress toward the meeting of government heads is now stalled by the inability of the Russians and the west to agree on either what will be talked about or the level at which to open preliminary negotiations.

War Preparations
Bulganin's letter replied to one Macmillan had sent him Feb. 8 in reply to one Bulganin sent him Jan. 9. Macmillan also wrote Bulganin on Jan. 17 but that one answered a Bulganin letter of Dec. 11.

This time the Soviet premier wrote that the west is rushing "war preparations which cannot but worsen the international situation." He cited the recent agreement of U. S. intermediate range missiles to be based in Britain and plans to place the nuclear warhead weapons in some other nations of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Bulganin added that "it is now more than ever necessary to refrain from all measures of a military nature" which might complicate holding a summit conference.

Officials in London and Washington concluded that the main purpose of the letter was another attack on America's supplying nuclear missiles to its European allies. The request "to refrain" apparently meant the allies should not modernize their defenses while waiting for Soviet summit promises.

Bulganin accused the west of delaying a summit conference by holding out for discussion of issues "known to be unacceptable."

President Eisenhower has proposed, Macmillan has endorsed and the Kremlin has refused discussions on restoration of political freedom in satellite East Europe and restrictions on use of the veto in the UN security council.

On summit topics suggested by both sides, Bulganin continued to demand that discussions be held within limitations — unacceptable to the west — which would insure the outcome Russia wants.

The Soviet premier repeated the Soviet call for (1) "a cessation of tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons, with a ban on their use and the elimination of foreign bases;"

(2) A foreign ministers meeting next month to work out only the date, place, membership and agenda of a summit meeting, and (3) negotiations on German reunification between West and East Germany.

Move Begun To Eliminate Sunday Buying

State Food Dealers, Clergy Back Plan To Stop Shopping

A movement to stop Sunday grocery shopping in Appleton is underway under sponsorship of the Wisconsin State Association of Retail Meat and Food Dealers, with backing of the clergy.

A meeting of representatives of the association, pastors from Catholic and Protestant churches and lay delegates from each congregation has been scheduled for 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Elm Tree bakery Ambrosia room. Strategy will be outlined then.

A letter has been sent to interested parties by Elmer C. Rehbein, manager of the Peterson Rehbein Meat Market and a director of the state organization, stressing the Christian aspects of Sunday grocery store closing.

Contents of Letter

Under the letterhead of the state meat and food dealers group, the letter reads:

"Yours in Faith:

"Having passed the Christmas season, we were reminded to put Christ back in Christmas.

"Having approached Easter Sunday, and during the lenten season we looked forward to the risen Christ.

"What are we reminded to do during the rest of the year until Christmas will again be celebrated with the birth of Christ?

"We as a Christian nation are reminded that we have been taught, six days shalt thou work and rest on the seventh. Many in business today are forgetting their Christian obligations in respect to their fellowmen.

"The Wisconsin State Association of Retail Meat and Food Dealers is not in accord with this practice and is pleading with the public at large to do their shopping on any day of the week except Sunday. May we enlist the membership of your entire organization to assist us in bringing back Sunday as a day to go to church and rest for all of us . . ."

Similar Moves

Rehbein said similar movements have been successful in Wausau, Rhinelander and Wisconsin Rapids and Oshkosh currently is working out such a program.

He added today's refrigeration techniques make it unnecessary for families to shop for food on Sundays and contended people have enough time during the week to shop without using Sundays for that purpose.

Operators of several independent markets which remain open on Sunday declined to comment on the movement.

Problems to be discussed include health, housing and psychological attitudes of the aged.

Needs Summer Sun

Stop Asphalt Work After Sept. 15, City Advised

The city ought to stop all asphalt street work after Sept. 15, Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski believes.

Duszynski told the board of public works freshly-laid asphalt needs time in the summer sun to help knead it into a firm roadway.

Asphalt projects begun in September and October are done in weather too cold to be most effective, he said.

Representatives of Badger Highways, Inc., the city's 1956 asphalt contractor, said 1956 projects were ordered too late and the cold weather was partly responsible for the quality of the asphalt surface that resulted.

Cites Examples

Badger Highways representatives made the explanation when telling the board why some less-than-year-old streets failed to hold up and why it was necessary for the company to do the work over.

Duszynski said the difference between an early start and a late one can be seen in a comparison of W. Glendale avenue and N. Division street, both of which were resurfaced in part last year with asphalt mat.

W. Glendale, done early in the season, is a fine street, Duszynski said, but N. Division, done late in the season, shows a worn appearance.

Need Early Start

Ordering of streets for improvement with asphalt before the November budget sessions would permit the earliest possible start of work, the director said, and also would permit budget-makers to pinpoint their dollar need for paving work. The early start, in turn, would permit an early September shut-off of work, he said.

Duszynski has been urging an early start of street planning for some time. He has cited restrictions to effective planning which late starts put on his department.

The bulk of street improvements presently are not recommended or ordered until after the spring city election. E. Calumet street, for example, is scheduled for turnover and double sealcoat this year, but aldermen have said they expect an asphalt mat to be placed on the long street.

Finances

Duszynski said he expects the problem to solve itself somewhat because of the shortage of finances this year. Aldermen realize, he said, that the old policy of falling back on the general fund for extra money to meet late projects can't continue.

The board and street and sanitation committee previously had been told all work this year will be kept within the 1958 budget amounts.

This means that work ordered late—when there is no money in the budget to cover it—will have to be held over until next year.

Discussion of Federal Aid for Jobless Fails to Explain if It's Grant or Loan

BY JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

Washington — In 15 years in Washington this writer has never seen anything more fouled up than what happened yesterday at the White House after President Eisenhower conferred with eight state governors. It was hard to tell whether a rabbit was being pulled out of the hat, or a rabbit was being put back into a hat. Eisenhower called in the governors to discuss his idea of providing federal money to those unemployed workers who have used up the jobless pay given them under the federal-state system of unemployment compensation (UC). When Eisenhower first offered his idea March 8 he seemed to indicate he was thinking of a grant—a gift, which didn't have to be paid back—to the states to give to the unemployed who had exhausted their UC benefits.

Plain Dole
This would be a plain dole. The idea of a dole got furious reaction within Eisenhower's own administration. Then administration people began talking of a loan, not a grant, to the states.

So nothing was clear when the governors went in to see Eisenhower. When they came out and held a group news conference this was the main question: Was Eisenhower thinking of a grant or a loan?

That news conference was plain hash. It was so vague it was almost unbelievable. James Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, was there and could have cleared it up, or tried to, but he didn't.

Then the reporters tackled the governors individually. Republican Gov. Knight of California and Democratic Govs. Rosellini (Washington), Faubus (Arkansas), and Muskie (Maine) talked of the federal help as being in the form of grants.

Knight and Rosellini told this writer the grant idea — requiring no repayment by the states — was the only one on which all eight governors agreed.

But then a White House spokesman gave a different ent version after newsmen, now thoroughly confused, besieged him for clarification. He said the president was thinking in terms of a loan that would have to be paid back.

He was asked how there could be such a difference of interpretation on what the president had in mind that the governors talked of a grant and he talked of a loan. The spokesman said:

"Well, if you were a governor you might look on it as a grant while we look on it as a loan."

Then he got into the arithmetic to explain how states — while getting the money as a "loan" — might not have to raise any new money to pay it back. But when it came down to details on how this could be done, this was the answer:

This was something which would have to be worked out.

Enough Money
But there is the point: All but perhaps six states have enough money in their own UC funds to extend the period in which the jobless can draw UC — in most states the maximum is 26 weeks — but they have declined to do so.

So this writer asked one governor who wished to remain unnamed:

"Since no more than six states might need federal help to extend the jobless pay periods and all the rest have enough money to do it, if they want to, why should the government have to hand out money to those other 42?"

He said: "That's the best question of the day. And the best answer to it is that the question answers itself."

At this point it seems safe to say the Eisenhower administration is all fogged up itself on what it's going to propose.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa — A pair of 6-year-old blond geldings with white manes and tails consigned by Gearhart Reimer of Hilbert, Wis., brought $400 each at the Tri-State horse auction Wednesday. The buyer was George Sommers of Oregon, Mo.

Menominees May Vote On Form of Government

Referendum Would Express Preference
After Federal Control Has Been Ended

Madison — Members of the Menominee Indian tribe may vote in an advisory referendum soon on what form of government they prefer when federal control is terminated. The legislature will make the final determination when the termination date is known. Termination, scheduled by congress for the end of this year, is almost sure to be postponed. One bill now before a congressional conference committee would extend the date to the said. The referendum would end of 1960, another to June 30, not be binding.

The three choices, he added, George Kenote, Keshena, told would be a separate county; at the legislative council's Indian attachment to an adjoining county study committee that further; or remaining in some form of separate entity. He said he did not know whether the third choice was legally possible under the Wisconsin Constitution. Kenote said his committee is also studying types of management organizations which could be established in the name of the tribe to receive title to tribal assets from the federal government. The assets have been valued at over 35 million by the Wisconsin Department of Taxation.

School Problem
The three choices being considered are organization under state corporation laws, a voting trust and a cooperative, he said.

V. E. Kimball, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, told the committee the initial cost of public school

Abolition of Military District in State Is Nearing Completion
Milwaukee — An Abolishment of the Army's Wisconsin military district, which has administered reserve and ROTC programs in the state since 1950, will be completed April 11.

Col. Charles C. Ege, now Wisconsin sector corps commander, said this would be six months ahead of schedule. The district's functions are being transferred to the new 14th Army Reserve Corps headquarters in Minneapolis. The new command, set up Jan. 2, will handle Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, and North and South Dakota.

Railroads and Passengers

A number of citizens have indicated to us their displeasure at the plan of the Chicago and North Western Railway company to move its Appleton passenger operations from the downtown depot to Appleton Junction. Their attitude seems to be, "Why are we letting them get away with it?"

In discussing the matter with an official of the railroad, we suggested that the North Western build a nice, new depot in some central location to serve the Fox Cities, instead of making do with the ancient station at the Junction. He replied by asking, "Where would we get the money?"

The simple fact is that railroad passenger service has become far more important to the passengers — and to the communities in which they live — than to the railroads. The passenger business is, in fact, almost universally a money-losing business today; only a few crack trains between large population centers show a profit.

Yet any urban community that is growing — or hopes to grow — must have good rail passenger service, just as it must have bus and airline service, good roads leading to and from it, good telephone, telegraph and mail connections. Most such communities have recognized the need for these other services in a number of ways; they build expensive airports at public expense, for instance, and beseech the airline companies to serve them; tax monies build the highways used by buses and trucks; port cities provide docks and warehouses for shippers' use. But who ever heard of a community providing anything for its railroads?

Instead of carping at the railroads so much, we think communities like ours would do better to provide them with at least as much as they provide for their competitors. Certainly Outagamie county, for instance, which has invested several hundred thousand dollars in its airport in the hope that an airline will condescend to serve us, should be willing to build a well-located modern passenger depot, both as a service to its citizens and to provide a small subsidy to the railroad which is providing us with passenger service at no profit to itself.

The only danger might be that the railroad's executives will be overcome with surprise at the idea that one of the communities along its route appreciates its service enough to give the railroad a hand. If any community is going to cause them to suffer fainting spells, however, we would be happy to see the Fox Cities gain that distinction.

Goat Feather Harvests

Recently Judge Arold Murphy of Marinette, with that genius for imagery which is one of the envied characteristics of the Celtic strains, remarked to the McClellan committee that his effort to mediate the bitter Kohler strike some years ago was an exercise in "collecting goat feathers."

It was a brilliantly synonymic expression of the futility of that enterprise, as he felt it.

Pilots of editorial pages, we might observe, are in the nature of their responsibilities and their usual tastes students, of a sort, of goat feather harvesting. Examples of the phenomenon are especially abundant in modern governmental affairs, and professional critics of those affairs perhaps have a more experienced eye for detection than some of their contemporaries.

Thus we were relishing Judge Murphy's interpolation at the solemn Washington proceedings when the postman delivered a report from the state conservation department recounting the results of the department's "rough fish" removal program during the last year.

Now, as we recall it, the conservation department has been investing substantial sums in the seining of carp and other undesirable denizens of Wisconsin waters for a long time — something more than 20 years. We don't know much about the science of carp catching, but there is this that strikes us as provocative about the business:

The longer the conservation department continues this enterprise, the larger the annual harvests become!

Last year, for example, state and private crews — the latter working under contract — hauled out the astonishing total of nearly 10 million pounds of unwanted fish of many species. That was nearly 1.8 million pounds above the catch for the previous year. It was nearly twice the volume of fish taken in some other years when we were similarly surprised by the totals.

The situation causes us to wonder whether this is a practicable expenditure and a defensible effort.

Are the carp and the sheephead reproducing more rapidly than we can possibly exterminate them? Are the conservation commissioners at Madison, perhaps unknowingly, engaged in a gigantic business of collecting goat feathers? We would appreciate being enlightened on the point,

Sparta High School Believes in Education

The duck-tail haircuts, the silver-studded black leather jackets, the skin-tight blue jeans often are recognized as symbols of juvenile rebellion against authority. As such they have been prohibited in some high schools. Such bans often bring on real tests of authority. Some parents have gone to court and while generally the courts have ruled in favor of the school authorities, it has always appeared that a better way could have been found for handling the matter.

At Sparta, Wis., the school authorities have handled the matter through "education, not legislation." The very phrase carries a criticism of those who have turned from persuasion to force in winning the minds of students.

When Sparta High school opened last fall all forms of unconventional dress were to be seen. As usual the few rebels who were truly wearing unusual garb as a sign of defiance had been followed by many others who simply wanted to be like the leaders. Before any action was taken by any member of the faculty the superintendent of schools, the principal of the high school, teachers and the board of education had discussed the matter. It was decided to put it up to the students.

The question was discussed by teachers and students at home room guidance sessions. The student council carried the problem to the students and finally a student vote was held. With 500 voting, only 20 favored the unconventional dress. With the majority opinion well established, the students returned to conventional dress and the minority fell in line.

Even the rebellious in spirit dislike to stand out alone in peculiar garb and they find it impossible to do so when there is no distinction in it. The Sparta school has no rule banning such dress. It is not worn there because it is not in style.

What Others are Saying

Paradox of the Social Security Law

From the Somersworth (N.H.) Free Press
In the building of this country hard work was considered a virtuous act, not something to be discouraged. Today the contrary is true, or at least that is what one of our federal laws would lead us to believe.

The situation to which we refer results from the social security law. The law, in effect, tends to penalize a person who wishes to put in a full day's work.

Under the social security law, when a person becomes 65 and starts to receive federal benefits, he is automatically limited to part-time work so that he can earn only $1,200 in the course of a year. This is so whether the man or woman is a cripple and cannot work or whether he or she is a vigorous person, eager and able to continue to work. Should the person exceed the $1,200 maximum which federal legislation has established then he loses the social security checks which he has worked his entire life to build up and qualify for.

But the paradox of the social security law does not stop here. The law states that after the person drawing social security has remained idle seven years past his sixty-fifth birthday—that is, has reached his seventy-second birthday—then this restriction no longer applies and he may earn just as much as he wishes without jeopardizing his monthly social security check. The question comes to mind as to why should it be deemed wrong for a man to work within the 65 to 72 age bracket yet be perfectly acceptable to work with from 73 until his last living year?

To compound this injustice even further, the restriction on earnings does not apply to all types of income, but simply to income through an honest day's work. For example, if a man is 65 years old and has a substantial amount of investments then he is able to accept and make use of this income and this does not count as part of the $1,200 limit. It's only wages actually earned by direct labor that is subject of this penalizing action.

Today our state and local governments are establishing committees and commissions to study the problem of what to do with the aged to keep their minds and hands occupied. The key to the work of these groups which in many instances are making use of public funds is to keep older people active, giving them a useful role in our society. While this is going on the federal government through its social security legislation is working in exactly the opposite direction. It is saying that these older people should be forced to remain at home even though a large share of them do not wish to be idle and are eager to assume a role in our labor market.

A strong case can be built for a change in this law to remove this injustice and to encourage our men and women to remain at their posts as long as they derive satisfaction and a sense of accomplishment from the job they are undertaking.

States has not broken any treaties or agreements with Soviet Russia.

Cyrus Eaton spells out his credo as follows:

"I don't suppose you'd find any one in the world more dedicated to capitalism and democracy than I am. But I think the best way to destroy these two institutions in America is to go to war with Russia."

Why should the United States go to war with Russia? No one in this country desires war and enormous sacrifices have been made to avoid war. On the other hand, Khrushchev acts as though he is chafing at the bit for a war, for while he demands a summit conference strictly on his own terms, he threatens the United States in challenging language — language which half a century ago would result in the breaking off of diplomatic relations.

Seeking Recognition
Forgotten are all the terms of Yalta concerning free elections. What Khrushchev wants is that Russia's territorial gains should be recognized by the United States as accomplished historic accumulations which can never be altered. But then history is always changing. Think of Khiva (Khorezm) which is now a territory lost in the Russian empire. It was once a great state, among the great of the world.

History is not static. We became the first nation on earth when Franklin D. Roosevelt took us into war; today, our primacy is not only being challenged by Khrushchev of Russia but by Mao Tze-tung of China. History is the record of the shifting and changing relationships among peoples. Cyrus Eaton says: "Leave Russia alone. Let her deal with her economic theories and practices — time would have a big effect on these. But to build places all around them from which we can launch bombs and missiles gives that nation a solidarity that it would not have if they didn't feel the western world was plotting to destroy them."

And would we be in less peril if we were defenseless? Of course, it can be argued, as a communist once argued with me, that Soviet Russia would be foolish to conquer territory. What Marxism will do is to conquer the minds of men; to lessen resistance to Marxist ideas and to their manifestations in the Soviet system. This is particularly true of Europe, which is tired, tried almost beyond endurance. Since the French Revolution (1789-1795), Europe has been living wars, revolutions, changes, the abolition of feudalism, the abolition of monarchy, the emergence of the gutter to rule men, the impact of anti-Christianity which some men call science, the attack upon the family system. These antedate communism.

What matters is that much of mankind is ready to accept peace at any price, even at the price of being dominated by the Kremlin — anything rather than to be fried by a hydrogen bomb explosion. And this defeatism strikes America, too.

War Means the End
So Cyrus Eaton, the capitalist, says:

"We're faced with a condition, whether we like it or not, in which Russia has all the instruments of modern war, and it just doesn't make sense to continue that kind of an armaments contest. This is the time for anyone who feels this way to speak up.

"I think you'll find the average businessman, connected with industry, realizes as keenly as I do that World War III would be the destruction of mankind."

And the conclusion to such an argument is what? Are we to truckle under and apologize for being alive? Are we to beg Khrushchev's pardon for having ideas of our own as to how to achieve a peace? Are we still a sovereign nation?

Eaton's words explain the wisdom of Karl Marx who told the workers, that they have nothing to lose but their chains. Cyrus Eaton appeals to the capitalists to accept craven cowardice because they have so much to lose. Here are his words: "... Certainly anyone who is a capitalist ought to go for it — because in a war all the material accumulations of the past would go. One hydrogen bomb would lay this great city in rubble."

In a word, "Capitalists! Save your investments whatever happens!" I heard them say things like that in Russia in 1917. Those who said it lost their property.

Lamp Post Need Noted in Appleton

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent of the week of March 22, 1879.

The Fourth Ward asks for two lamp posts on Lake street where there is an imperative necessity for them.

The common council should also place one at the east end of Prospect and Pearl bridge where so many ladies have been grossly insulted when passing alone in the evening. Another is needed on Appleton street for the benefit of the railway traveling public. Morrison and Durkee streets each should have two lamps for the coming summer.

The city taxed the Gas Company away above all other industries, so that the addition of ten street lamps would not do more than equalize the unjust assessment upon the Gas Company. Right is right.

R. H. McCarty, Kaukauna, was appointed chairman of the On Wisconsin drive that was to be conducted here next week. Fall Election Costs May Establish Record

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — It is money raising time again in Wisconsin politics.

The Democratic organization, with the hustle and bustle that has characterized it lately, is ambitiously engaged in soliciting from well-wishers and realists the biggest campaign budget that organization has ever suggested. Chances are that they will raise a substantial part of it. Political party campaign fund goals tend to be like the price tag in a bargain store. They are not intended to be taken at face value.

The Republicans have been planning, but somewhat more privately. They are about to name a new party treasurer, and that worthy will have somewhat more difficult problems than this thankless office usually faces. Not only will the need be greater in a year of toughened competition, but there are well-authenticated reports about a dangerous malaise afflicting some of the usual contributors.

HOW IT GOES

In Wisconsin such matters as campaign financing have been dealt with in a far more candid way than in many other places in the country. Yet there remains a good deal of mystery about the business of paying the bills of candidates and political parties.

A part of the cause is that the laws treating with the subject are utterly out-dated, and actually are mocking reminders of the sophisticated of their complete futility.

The laws governing campaign expenditures for the most part were written in simpler times, for a simpler society, a smaller state, and perhaps, a more attentive electorate.

They have been circumvented through practical necessity and by common consent. The literal provisions of the law today are almost insignificant in measuring the dollar sums required for the financing of campaigns. They are relics.

Not only has the state grown larger and the media of communication more complex, costly and numerous, but the political party enters a campaign trial with the documented knowledge that up to half of the body politic is stone deaf. That is to say, up to half of the eligible voters aren't listening at all, as shown by the fact that they regularly fail to record their sentiments at the polls. Much of the remaining half is so hard of hearing that it takes an intensive effort, indeed, to reach the ears. That intensity spells money, in great gobs.

HOW MUCH

Politicians like to talk around these things. They rarely speak with any candor on how much money an effective campaign requires — in cash or in kind.

The reports of the Republican state committee in recent years, in sums running up toward half a million dollars, are suggestive in the round. The practical man may be able to surmise that the Democrats' reported figures, added to the value of the services of hundreds of paid agents of the labor organizations during campaign seasons, add up to a tidy sum, too.

But the facts can be stated even more explicitly, at whatever risk of offense to the politically fastidious.

In the unlikely event that any representative group should ever find candidate talent so scarce as to propose this chronicler's services on a state-wide ballot, a first and eminently practical condition would be a campaign fund of at least $100,000. That would be on the minimum side, if anything, based on some years of interested observation of the bald realities of contemporary political life.

Communication with the sovereign voter is a very expensive business, and there is no relief in sight.

Sets Sign Up for Kindergartners

Combined Locks—Plans for a kindergarten registration Tuesday afternoon have been announced by Wayne Hull, principal of the Combined Locks State graded school.

The registration will be conducted from 1 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. It will be necessary to register all children for the fall term in order to give school officials an idea of the necessity of one or two sessions. If two class sessions will be needed in the fall, school officials will have to prepare for it now.

Youngsters must be five years old by Oct. 1 in order to be eligible for the class. Parents should bring a birth certificate of baptismal record with them to the registration.

United Church Adopts 5-Year Building Plan

Kaukauna — The year 1958 will be devoted to making plans for a 5-year building program for Immanuel United Church of Christ, according to the Rev. John Scheib, pastor.

The church membership has approved a 5-year plan calling for the tearing down of the old church and building a new church, adding a second story to the Sunday school, constructing a new parsonage and acquiring additional property for the building efforts.

Work will get underway April 2 when Clarence Jahn and Gordon Ihbe, architects from Green Bay, meet with the church council to talk over general plans for the building program.

An $80,000 addition to the church was dedicated in 1954, the new addition housing offices, Sunday school and Guild rooms.

39 Petition Council for Ball Field, Playground in N. Rankin St. Ravine

Thirty-nine petitioners Wednesday asked the city council to construct a baseball diamond and playground in the ravine off N. Rankin street.

The request was among many given the council and referred by Mayor Robert L. Roemer to committees for study and recommendations.

Roemer referred the petition to the park board. The petitioners want the improvements at the north end of the ravine between Fox River Tractor company and Rankin court.

Work on a 54-inch storm sewer in the ravine was finished last week. The street and sanitation committee has given Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski permission to have the ravine filled.

Other requests:

Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings wants the police department to provide a foot patrol around Goodland field on the nights the Fox Cities play ball this summer.

Ald. Robert Stumpf wants a new sanitary sewer installed in the 100 and 200 blocks of E. Taft avenue at city expense. There is a sewer in the street, a hold-over from the old Bucholz sanitary district, and it is inadequate, Stumpf says. The new line could be connected with the trunk main which was relaid to more depth last year, on S. Oneida street, he says.

Mrs. Stillings wants the state motor vehicle department's driver testing office moved out of city hall. She says the department should be asked to seek new quarters in the courthouse. The move would provide needed room for the relief department, she says.

Don and Willard Calmes submitted the final Calmes plat for approval. It shows 19 lots on the north side of E. Woodland avenue between N. Meade street and N. Viola street.

N. Elinor Street

Ald. William F. Ertl asks approval for curb and gutter and an 11-inch asphalt mat on N. Elinor street between W. Grant street and W. Taylor street.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe wants the boulevard at the northwest corner of E. South River street and S. Lave street to be cut down and concrete steps rebuilt west of the present location. The move would improve visibility for motorists, he says.

Ald. Roy Pointer wants the storm sewer extended from E.

Wisconsin avenue north on N. Rankin street to a point between 1325 and 1328 N. Rankin.

Mrs. Clara Kringle, 624 1/2 W. Franklin street, submitted a claim for $1,500 for medical and hospital expenses and personal injury and property damage when she fell on the ice in front of 129 N. State street on Feb. 22.

Chester Meiers, 1127 W. Northland avenue, is seeking rezoning of four lots he owns in two separate plats. Three lots on the east side of Maplecrest court, just off W. Foster street, he wants rezoned to multiple family district. A lone lot at the southeast corner of N. Richmond street and W. Lindbergh street extended he wants rezoned to 2-family district.

Pointer seeks sidewalk construction on the east side of N. Meade street from E. Woodland to E. Glendale avenue.

Ald. Harry D. Roubush wants curb and gutter and gravel for Alton court from E. Alton street south.

Ald. Thomas K. Schneider wants the billboards at S. Telulah avenue and E. John street removed.

Ertl wants street lights for W. Kamps avenue and N. Outagamie street and for the middle block of W. Brewster street between N. Mason street and N. Summit street.

Bartenders

Ald. R. P. Groh wants the defective sidewalk at the southeast corner of Walnut street and College avenue replaced.

Roy F. Weston, Inc., New Town Square, Pa., offered services in planning abatement of water pollution.

Mrs. Alvina R. Siebers asks transfer of licenses for Red's Bar from her husband's name to hers. He died Feb. 19.

Seeking bartender's licenses are Delbert Branz, 906 W. Sherry street, Neenah; Thomas Harvath, 1517 S. Madison street; Dezzo Tornossy, 516 Church street, Neenah; Myron Schley, 730 1/2 E. Wisconsin avenue; Jesse Polmatier, 117 1/2 S. State street; James G. Oudenhoven, 223 1/2 E. College; Ronald F. Leist, 848 E. Glendale avenue; Edward Kramer, 533 E. McKinley street; and Gus B. Hersekorn, 1020 W. Eighth street.

Commission OKs Trolling On 5 Lakes

Madison — The Wisconsin Conservation commission voted today, 5 to 1, to permit trolling from a moving motor boat on five lakes as an experiment.

The Wisconsin legislature had asked the department to set up motor trolling experiments on some lakes and the department recommended the plan to the commission in February. At that time, however, the commission refused by a tie vote to permit the experiment.

Today, only Commissioner Charles Smith of Wausau voted against a resolution providing for the experiment. It was offered by Commissioner Arthur MacArthur of Janesville.

MacArthur's resolution directs the department to conduct the experiment as long as necessary to evaluate it.

Under the resolution limited motor trolling would be permitted on Lakes Winnebago, Koshong, Kegonsa, Monona, Kegonsa, Shell in Washburn county, Eau Claire, Wisconsin in Sauk and the Chetek chain in Barron county.

Jury Decides Agent Falsely Described Home

Clintonville Sales Named in $2,650 Suit By Appleton Buyer

A circuit court jury of eight men and four women has ruled that a real estate firm misrepresented a home when it was sold to an Appleton man.

Donn J. Garrigan, 1839 S. Bouten street, sued Clintonville Sales, Inc., 46 S. Main street, Clintonville, for $2,650, charging the firm had falsely represented the drainage system of a home on Third avenue, north of Appleton in the town of Grand Chute. Garrigan said he bought the home with a $2,200 down payment and paid $450 to the firm on a $75 per month payment basis.

Clifford Turkow, who had possession of the home at the time of sale, told Garrigan the septic tank and drainage system were in good working order and there had never been any trouble with them, Garrigan claimed.

The jury ruled that Turkow had been acting as an agent of the Clintonville Sales firm and was authorized by it to sell the home, that his statement on the drainage system was to induce Garrigan to purchase the home and that the statement was false, that Garrigan relied on Turkow's false statement in buying the home and that Garrigan was not required to determine the falsity of Turkow's statement.

The payment of the $2,650 claimed by Garrigan from Clintonville Sales must be determined by Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell after he hears motions by both sides.

Bids for Last Interchanges on 41 Scheduled

April 8 Letting in Madison for Three Overpass Structures

Bids for the last three traffic interchange structures in the current 4-laning project on Highway 41 will be let April 8 in Madison, L. W. Empey, Green Bay district highway office chief, said today.

Bids will be let on the structures to carry Highway 41 over Highway 10 and the structures to carry Highways 44 and 26 over Highway 41 in Winnebago county. The state highway commission does not release estimates of costs.

The 10 and 41 structures will carry the 4-lane Highway 41 over Highway 10 west of Appleton and eventually will include a diamond-type interchange. Purchase of the land for the interchange is being done by a state appraiser and the county highway committee.

The overpass structures carrying 44 and 26 across Highway 41 eventually will interchange traffic with the superhighway through 2-quadrant cloverleaf ramps. The major movement of traffic will go over the cloverleaf quadrants.

Grading Bids

The state highway commission will let grading bids shortly after the structure bids are let. This will permit grading to begin after the abutments, similar to the structures already under construction west of Neenah, are built, Empey explained.

Current plans of the highway commission are to complete the 4-lane Highway 41 expressway around Neenah and the superhighway section around Appleton to Highway 10 by 1950. The highway will be 4-laned from Highway 10 south to Highway 114, where it will resume 2-lane characteristics until reaching interchanges in Winnebago county at Highways 110, 21, 44 and 26. Between the latter interchanges it will resume 2-lane characteristics.

A public hearing has been set

Around Home...

Robert (Pikey) Moore, a sheriff's department radio operator, has trouble keeping track of his fish shanty. About three times a year it turns up somewhere, never where Moore left it. Early this week Moore stormed into the county courthouse, boiling mad. His shanty was neatly parked in front of the courthouse. So far this year, Moore has lost the shanty at least once and one other disputed time when his friends claim he misplaced it without help.

for relocation of Highway 41 north of Highway 10. A map of the proposed location will be presented at the hearing April 10 at the Outagamie county courthouse.

The relocation will begin about half a mile north of Highways 10 and 41 and end in the vicinity of County Trunk JJ near Kaukauna, a distance of slightly less than 10 miles.

Proposed location of the re-routed road is about three-quarters of a mile north of existing Highway 41. No dates for construction have been estimated.

Third Engel Letter Gets Rough Treatment

A third letter from anti-fluoridationist Joseph J. Engel within three months Wednesday night got rougher treatment from city councilmen than the first two.

Aldermen, in a voice vote, decided to place the latest letter "on file," in this case meaning "Let's kill it here." There was no opposition.

In fact, "kill it here" were the exact words of Ald. Homer Malmstrom, who urged the action.

"In view of the fact that all reputable physicians and dentists in the city, county and state—in fact, the world over—have endorsed fluoridation as an effective and safe health measure, I move to receive and file this," Malmstrom said. "There's a limit!"

"There's a reasonable limit to which a government body should go in giving status to such nonsense as this," said Malmstrom.

Mayor Robert L. Roemer asked if it wouldn't be better to refer the letter to the water commission and let the commission take care of it as they have the other two.

No, said Malmstrom. "Let's kill it here."

Engel's first letter charged fluoridation was causing cor-

Appleton Youth Fined For Ignoring Signal

Dennis L. Tiede, 18, 1715 S. Jefferson street, today was fined $10, charged three points against his driving record and had his driver's license revoked for 60 days for ignoring a traffic signal.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede stayed revocation of Tiede's license if the youth is not arrested for a moving traffic violation in the next year.

Denies Non-Support

Otto Jusenius, 46, Rib Lake, today denied a charge of failing to support his son and was jailed in lieu of $500 bond for trial Tuesday in municipal court.

rosion in water pipes. His contention was refuted by the state board of health.

Engel's second letter cited opinions of nine officials of other cities, engineers and chemists backing his belief that fluoridation helps to cause corrosion in pipes and harms people physically. The water commission, to whom it was referred, has not replied.

Challenges Candidates

The latest letter challenges "those seeking office to let the voters know before April 1 what they intend to do about stopping fluoridation."

Engel says that "inasmuch as the present administration was instrumental in putting sodium fluoride, into Appleton's water supply without approval of its citizens or the local dental and medical associations, I feel that the same administration should see to it that fluoridation is stopped and a bipartisan group be appointed to make a thorough study."

The letter is nine pages long and includes more data on fluoridation.

Appleton voters in a special referendum last year voted to retain the fluoridation policy.

Legislature May Study Idea Of Regional Governments

Hints About Plans Revealed at Hearing by Interim Committee

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The idea of regional governments to fill a service vacuum in some of the growing metropolitan areas of Wisconsin may come before the state legislature for discussion. Hints about such plans were thrown out here before a legislative-citizens interim commission studying urban development problems in Wisconsin. The commission has informally chosen Madison and its environs for intensive study, believing that they are typical of many other localities where population growth has out-run governmental machinery.

As explained by Prof. Jacob Beuscher of the University of Wisconsin law school, a form of regional or metropolitan government might be wedged between town, city and village administration, on one hand, and the county government, on the other.

Beuscher is one of the leaders on a citizens commission here which has been studying the area planning problems of the capital community, long since sprawled over the political boundary lines.

(Beuscher was one of two University of Wisconsin professors who addressed a seminar conference of the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission in Neenah last December.)

He said there ought to be some provision for communities like metropolitan Madison to perform together those area service needs that cannot be provided separately by local governments, or only at greater cost and less efficiency. He said Madison is one of the worst communities in the state for its large number of local governments. There are 142 separate units of government in the metropolitan Madison area, he related.

As an alternative, Beuscher said his group is considering the possibility of "modernizing" county government, so that the county in a metropolitan area could perform area services for populous communities without regard to existing town, city and village jurisdictions.

Fox Valley Area

He conceded that the idea of county administration might not be feasible in other sections, as in the Fox Valley, where sometimes population centers straddle county limits.

But Beuscher and other witnesses, while they outlined the scope of area planning problems and the academic possibilities for their solution, were not hopeful about the chances for reform.

There is a dangerous degree of political antagonism and suspicion among Dane county local and neighborhood governments, he conceded.

He said the community is amply supplied with governmental and political talent, but that it is wasted on such antagonisms and is not "turned outward," to the problems of the community as a whole.

"They sit around at night disputing whether a garbage truck should be painted red or green, when we ought to be worrying about what our community will be like 20 years from now," he said.

Fiscal Relations

Lowell Frautschi, a Madison business leader who is also a member of the local study committee, reported on investigations of the fiscal relations between Madison as the parent city and its satellite villages and towns. Many Madison-financed services, he said, are enjoyed by neighboring suburbanites who don't pay for them, or are getting them for less than cost. On the whole, the city is paying a disproportionately high share of the county government, meanwhile.

Prof. Beuscher said his group will probably ask the next legislature to change the law to permit larger counties to organize their county boards according to assembly districts. Only counties of 500,000 or more can do so under present law. With a 200,000 population factor, Dane county could cut its "ungainly" county board from 83 to five members, he explained.

Ten Men Report For Induction

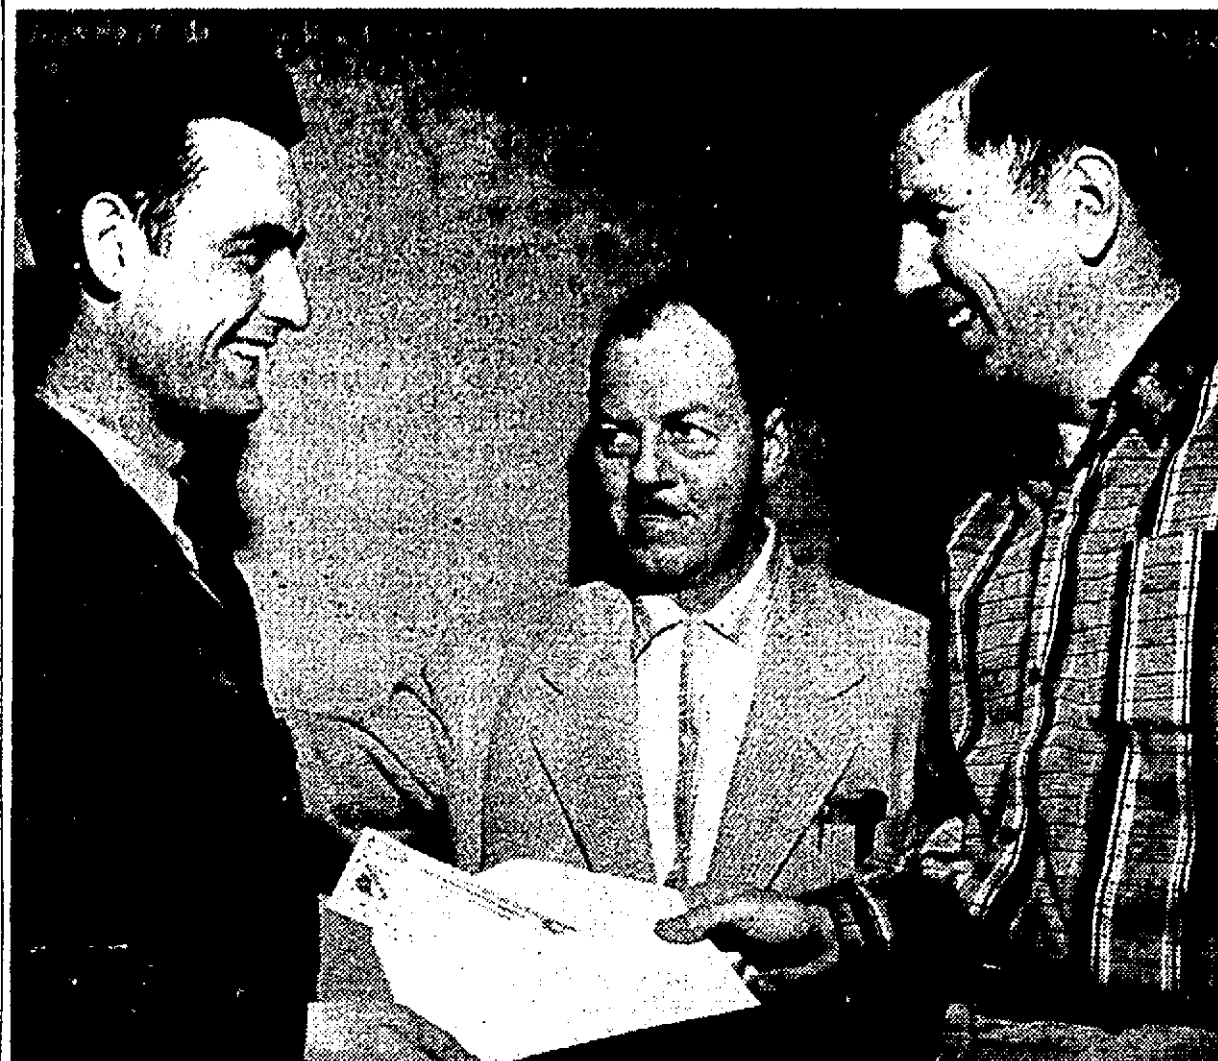

Ten Outagamie county men reported for induction into military service this week, selective service officials stated today.

They are James K. Parker, Eugene Howe, Charles H. Glasor and James A. Trieber, all of Appleton, Donald De Bruin and Richard J. Eppinger, both of Kaukauna, Ivan J. Erisco and Gerald F. Mares, both of Bear Creek, Clarence R. Krull, Shiocton and Clyde H. Cornelius, who now resides in Phoenix, Ariz.

Technician Speaks To Practical Nurses

Mrs. Dorothy Munnell, a technician at Theda Clark hospital, was speaker when members of the Fox Valley District of Licensed Practical Nurses met at Theda Clark nurses home.

Future plans include an officers workshop in Milwaukee Friday and an institute on nursing March 27, also in Milwaukee.

Bakery Driver Gets Bond for Fire Heroism

The Appleton Association of Labor Unions has given Donald R. Mayhugh, route 3, Kaukauna, a savings bond for his heroism in rescuing a grandmother and her 9-month-old granddaughter from a smoke-filled house Feb. 12 in Green Bay.

Mayhugh, a route salesman for Omar Bakery company, saw smoke seeping around the door of Mrs. Agnetta McCourt's home. With the help of a mail carrier, he broke down the door and found Mrs. McCourt on the floor of the smoke-filled kitchen. Her granddaughter, Joan, was in another room, unhurt by the smoke. The fire caused little damage to the house.

John E. Alexander Paper Executive Wins Award at Wisconsin Rapids

John E. Alexander, president and general manager of Neenah-Edwards Paper company, has been named citizen-of-the-year for 1957 by the Wisconsin Rapids Chamber of Commerce.

He is the first man to win the community honor twice, having received the award for 1955. The award was announced at the chamber's annual dinner meeting. In making the presentation, retiring Chamber president J. J. Nimtz cited Alexander's participation in community affairs, particularly his leadership in establishing a YMCA recreation center for central Wisconsin residents.

Construction of the $1,300,000 YMCA building in Port Edwards will be completed this summer. In a brief acceptance speech by telephone from Florida, Alexander paid tribute to his business associates and community friends who, he said, "share my desire to make our home town a better place to live."

Breitbart had been called for questioning primarily about boycott activities which the UAW has been conducting against Kohler products. He is chief steward of UAW Local 833 at Kohler and has been in charge of the boycott.

The committee is exploring into the question of whether the boycott activities were legal and, if legal, whether laws tive fund. The federal government would then replenish its own fund.

But an administration spokesman, calling the advances more loans than grants, said repayment could come either from the states' own reserve funds when they were replenished or from an added one-tenth of 1 per cent in the payroll tax.

No details were given on how the extended payments to jobless workers would be made. Most states now pay benefits for not more than 26 weeks. The amounts also vary by states.

The house yesterday spent only one minute in passing, without debate and without a recorded vote, the housing bill which sponsors say will provide more than 500,000 new jobs this year.

It followed that up by passing two resolutions calling on Eisenhower to speed up spending of appropriated funds for military and civil public works programs. Similar resolutions already have been passed by the senate.

Gov. Goodwin Knight of California, one of the eight governors, said Eisenhower is proposing that when a state exhausts its own reserve funds, it program is financed by a tax on payrolls ranging up to 3 per cent from the federal administra-

The committee is now in the fourth week of its hearings into charges and countercharges of violence which have marked the strike.

Conger testified yesterday his firm furnished the funds to pay "quite a number" of informants who signed affidavits denouncing strike leaders.

These payments actually were made, Conger said, by the Madsen Detective agency, employed by the company to seek evidence that might link UAW union officials with subversion and communism.

Conger said the firm paid the detective agency about $40,000 for four years of sleuthing. Kennedy said a dozen or so informants had been paid for signing affidavits. He spoke of payments of $360 and $350 to two of them.

Conger said the detectives dug up evidence he said showed that unionist Robert Burkart "was subversive."

In other testimony yesterday, committee accountant Carmine Bellino testified the union spent $21,936 on two Detroit members charged with assaulting non-strikers at the Kohler plant. The amount included legal fees and salaries for the two and payments to the wife of one, William Vinson, while he served a jail term for assault.

The other was John Gunaca, who has escaped trial on assault charges by staying in Michigan. Gov. G. Mennen Williams has refused to extradite him to Wisconsin, contending Gunaca would not get a fair trial in the area affected by the strike.

of loft buildings in Manhattan, with many businesses taking up an entire floor — often without partitions.

Among the injured was Edward Wine, 36, of Manhattan, a truck driver who volunteered to help hold one of the fire nets. A woman leaping from the building missed the net and landed on Wine, father of five children.

The woman and Wine were taken to a hospital.

Survivors were high in their praise of Abraham J. Becker, 37, of suburban Hicksville, N. Y., a Monarch Co. foreman, who not only tried to restore order but went back into the flaming fourth floor time and time again to lead others to safety.

But the World war II veteran, married and the father of two children, did not survive his last rescue attempt. He was overcome by smoke and died.

Chicago — A roaring fire which called out one-fifth of the city's fire-fighting apparatus today destroyed the Meyers Furniture Co. with an estimated $150,000 damage.

The multiple alarm fire roared out of control more than seven hours last night and early today.

Some 300 firemen and 60 pieces of equipment were summoned to the south side blaze with four extra alarms and two special alarms.

More than 300 policemen were directed to the scene to reroute traffic and handle a crowd of spectators, estimated by fire officials to number more than 1,000.

Two firemen suffered minor injuries.

Twenty persons living in nearby frame homes were evacuated because of danger of the flames spreading.

meeting with eight executive committee members from the national governors conference produced several good suggestions which the administration wants to study before sending its program to congress.

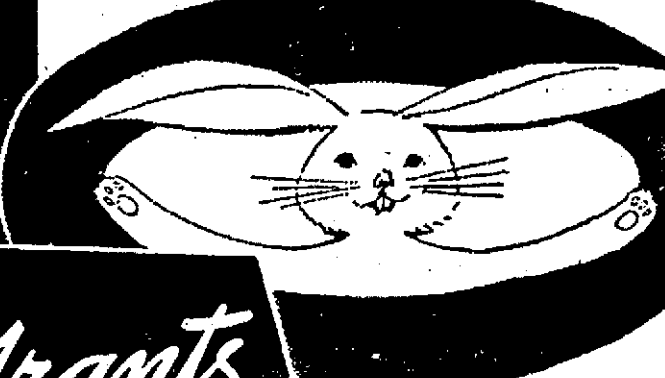

He said the program will be ready for submission to congress shortly.

The present jobless benefit program is financed by a tax on payrolls ranging up to 3 per cent of the first $3,000 of a worker's earnings. Of this the federal government keeps three-tenths of 1 per cent for administrative costs and credits its the remainder to reserve funds of the various states.

Notes and Notions

by John L. Paustian

In the lead-off position are a few hold-over observations on events that took place while we were caught up in the swirl of district-regional-sectional basketball. First, the

"Bud" Foster case. About a year ago, this corner suggested: "We believe now's as good a time as any to air the basketball situation and try to figure out the 'why' of a continuing deterioration." But, neither a ninth place finish nor a student banner-waving act could spur the athletic board into action. But, this year's last-place finish and a student paper editorial finally convinced the procrastinating board to hash the problem out. Retaining Foster was a tribute to a fine gentleman who has been a long-time credit to the institution. But, whether it will solve the UW's basketball dilemma is highly uncertain. It remains to be seen whether Foster can overcome the two shortcomings of which he is most often accused: (1) Failure to show enough flexibility in the use of his personnel and (2) failure to recruit top-grade material.

'Tis said that some athletes shy away from the UW because of Foster's time-honored pattern play and attempts to fit all players into a pre-determined mold. "Bud" claims his team did more running than usual in 1957-8. It seems pretty certain that Foster could be more aggressive and thorough in his talent-hunting without violating either the letter or the spirit of the Big Ten law. Michigan State and Minnesota have been attracting Wisconsin prep stars for some time, and, obviously they haven't been that successful by merely sending out post cards at random.

1958-9 Frosh Crop Will be Barometer

If potential college stars don't come to the UW because of an unwillingness—for one reason or another—to play for Foster, the situation isn't apt to change as long as "Bud" is in command. If, on the other hand, the basic reason is something else—such as the UW's inability to compete, scholarshipwise, with other schools, a coaching change wouldn't be the answer. The most important barometer of things to come is not the kind of a record the 1958-9 UW varsity makes (this year's freshman crop wasn't especially outstanding, we hear) but the make-up of the 1958-9 frosh roster. Some players of the type the UW needs performed at the Neenah sectional last weekend—and Foster was a spectator.

He expressed considerable interest in Appleton's Jack Ulwelling, who—to no one's surprise—he believes is of Big Ten caliber. Foster also was impressed with Bill Nelson and Tom Hughbanks, who reportedly is leaning toward the UW. We don't know whether Ulwelling will choose the UW, he says he hasn't decided where to go because he will undoubtedly be wooed by many a college. But it will take players like the three mentioned above or others like Marty Charrity, Jim Zweifel, Fred Seggelink and Hank Feldmann, to put the UW back on the basketball map. There's probably a greater temptation for a boy to go to a school that has a winning team now. But, it seems to me, there's more of a challenge in choosing a school that is "down" but has the potential to rise. If three or four outstanding boys—with or without Foster's persuasion—decided to enroll there in the same year, they could become the leaders of a sure-to-be remembered crusade at the UW.

Last fall, I reported in this space that the sentiment to reinstate Beloit in the Midwest conference was gaining momentum. The translation of this sentiment into a unanimous reinstatement vote came quicker than anticipated. The return of Beloit, a charter member of the conference at its 1921 organization, should be good for both Lawrence and Ripon. Having a third Wisconsin rival on the schedule should prove healthy both at the gate and competitively. The Bucs proved forthwith that they have turned over a new "emphasis" leaf by rejecting a bid to play in the NCAA small-college cage meet. In 1951, Beloit, under Coach Dolph Stanley entered the New York NIT after massacring all small schools in sight and some big ones. Later in the same year, the Bucs were drummed out. Beloit may run in

Braves Angle For Moryn

Rumored Ready to Exchange Conley, Reserve Outfielder for Cub Slugger; Game Rained Out

By the Associated Press

Last week, the grapevine had Milwaukee interested again in getting Richie Ashburn from the Philadelphia Phillies to plug an outfield gap. But that deal is now reported dead with the Braves thinking instead of Walt Moryn of the Chicago Cubs.

In 149 games with Chicago last year, Moryn hit .289, crashed in 109 homers and drove in 88 runs. The outfielder is 6-2 and weighs 205 pounds.

In exchange the Braves are reportedly ready to dangle some pitching—including righthander Gene Conley—in front of the Cubs. And the Braves may be willing to give up a reserve outfielder as well.

After the rain-out of Wednesday's game with the Tigers at Lakeland, the Braves are now set for four straight Grapefruit league games on their home grounds, starting with Cincinnati today.

Doesn't Mind Center

The Chicago White Sox will visit Friday.

Hank Aaron has decided he doesn't mind playing center field after all.

The National league's most valuable player of 1957 started out in right field last year but moved to center when Bill Bruton was hurt. As camp opened this year he said he wanted to go back to right.

But Wednesday, as rain washed out the exhibition game with the Detroit Tigers, Aaron said:

"I've changed my mind and would prefer playing center to right or left. It's a big challenge and I'm looking forward to playing there.

"I don't want to knock anybody out of a job," Hank added. "Center field belongs to Bruton, and if Billy is ready, I'll be glad to step aside. Or if manager Fred Haney decides he wants someone else to play center field, that's all right with me."

Aaron had a couple of reasons for making the switch.

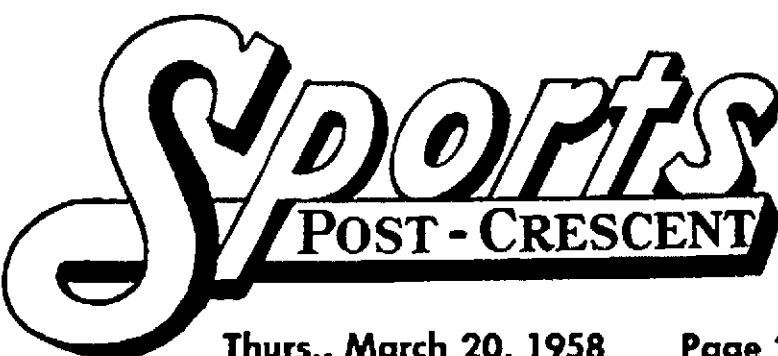

A Good Argument

"I've proved I can play left and right fields," he said. "So now if I can excel in center, too, it will increase my value to the club and when the time comes to discuss contract next year, I'll have a pretty good argument for more pay. I figure if I play center field, it's like money in the bank."

All the really good outfielders can play all three spots, Aaron said. "Duke Snider is one. Willie Mays is another and Mickey Mantle is a third. I'd like to be considered in a class with them."

Aaron said he didn't feel he was a Mays or a Snider, but said, "Just give me a little time and I'll give a good account of myself."

With Aaron now apparently set in center and Wes Covington a fixture in left, the Braves have an unplugged hole in right.

4 of the 8 State Meet Coaches Pick Shawano As Team to Beat

BY CHUCK CAPALDO

Madison — The defending champion Shawano Indians have been picked as the team to beat in the state high school basketball tournament by four of the eight coaches whose teams see action in the championship round opening today.

Leading the tom-tom beating for the Indians is their own coach, Rudy Ellis.

Almost Same Breath

Two other coaches picked Milwaukee North, one gave the nod to Superior Central, and the other declined to speculate.

Shawano, seeking its third straight title and first for Ellis, won support from coaches Sam Young of Black River Falls; Harry Gibbs of Eau Claire; Vic Anderson of North and Ellis.

They felt the Indians had too much tournament experience, but all of them mentioned

North in almost the same University of Wisconsin field-breath in a pre-tournament poll house had the teams matched by the Associated Press.

North was the first choice of Manitowoc's John Jung and 6. vs. Milwaukee North, 20-0. Jim Stevens of Madison West, while Verlyn Belise of Madison East picked Superior Central to go the distance.

"Doc" West of Superior Central declined to forecast saying, "This is one of the strongest fields in a long time. It would be tough to pick the favorite, but I'm not selling my own chances short."

Tournament pairings make it impossible for Shawano and North to meet for the title. If they survive first round games today they will meet at 7 o'clock Friday night.

Led by Jack Ulwelling's 44-point spurge, LMRR defeated Puete Muertes, 66-60, Wednesday night for the championship in the Appleton Recreation department's high school boys basketball tournament.

Other Wednesday evening tourney winners were: the Weinbergs, in the ninth grade tourney; the Bombers, eighth grade event, and Rods, seventh grade meet.

The high school meet's title game was well played, with the champs leading, 33-27, at the half but then falling behind 45-44, at the three-quarters pole. Ulwelling whipped in 17 baskets and 10 foul shots, while Tom Verkuilen—his Appleton High varsity teammate for three seasons—collected 33 points as the pair staged a personal duel.

Lead 18-16

The Weinbergs owned an 18-16 halftime bulge on their way to a 29-27 triumph over the Teddy Bears. Jeff Martin poured in 11 points for the Weinbergs, John Manier collected 10 for the losers.

The Bombers nudged the Netters, 45-36, as Pete Zanzig collected 29 of the victors' tallies. Babb coined 12 for the Netters, who dropped behind 24-14 at the

'Dobbie' Robertson To Defend Title in Weekend Competition

Ten rinks will compete this weekend in the annual local bonspiel of the Appleton Curling club.

Competition is slated to begin Saturday morning at the club's curling shed, Pierce park. The finals in the two events will be played at approximately 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

"Dobbie" Robertson, who skipped last year's title-winning rink, will defend his honors. The only other hold-over member of the winning rink is Fred Allen.

The skips of the other rinks are Dan Steinberg, Jr., Ed Murray, Horace Taggart, Clarence Robertson, Bob Farrell, Paul Jack, George Klein, Ray Fallon and Bill Urban.

Vaughn-Beecham Boxing Feud Remains Even

Washington — The midweight series between Willie Vaughn and Jimmy Beecham is still at a stalemate because of a low blow.

They met Wednesday night in what was billed as the rubber match in their ring feud. But they wound up in a draw after 10 bristling rounds.

Vaughn would have nailed the decision had it not been for a belly punch in the fourth round. Referee Marty Gallagher, Beecham and many

White Sox Have Only 81 Hits In 11 Contests

Tampa, Fla. — Weather permitting, the Chicago White Sox will have a long batting drill today—and they certainly can use it.

Among the players who have been at bat enough to compile a steady average, Nelson Fox is the leader with .297. The little second baseman has yet to strike out this spring.

O'Dell's Tips Help

Giants' Daryl Spencer Leads Club in Slugging This Spring

Phoenix, Ariz. — Shortstop Daryl Spencer, whose home run production has decreased each year since he came to the Giants, leads the San Francisco sluggers so far this spring.

"He just never has done so well," declares Manager Bill Rigney, "and a fellow hitting well in that No. 7 spot could make a big difference in a lot of games."

Two Giants, other than pitchers, came to the spring camp virtually assured of starting jobs. One was Willie Mays and the other the much less-known Spencer.

Although he had proved a good fielder, the Giants still wondered why Daryl hit 20 home runs in 1953 during his first season with the club, 14 in 1956 when he rejoined after military service and just 11 last season.

In yesterday's losing 6-3 game with Cleveland, Spencer tied things up, 1-1, with a homer over the left field wall in the fifth inning. It was his fourth in spring exhibition games. He's collected nine hits in 17 appearances for a .529 average.

Milwaukee Quint Eliminated From Women's Tourney

St. Joseph, Mo. — Nashville, Tenn., defeated Milwaukee, 61-33, Wednesday night, eliminating the Milwaukeeans from the National Women's AAU Basketball tournament.

Nashville's accurate long-distance shooting and effective passing game crumbled Milwaukee's zone defense in the first half, which ended with Milwaukee ahead, 28-18.

Jean Rush of Milwaukee scored 21 points to lead both teams. The game opened the quarter-finals of the meet.

Superior Central High Favored Over East '5'

Madison — Superior Central appears to have too many horses for Madison East to night in their opening round game of the forty-third annual state high school basketball tournament, but then East is used to long odds.

East, which shared the Big Eight title with Madison West, has conquered sickness and adversity to get where it is. A less dedicated team probably would have folded long before now.

"At one stage of the campaign," said East Coach Verlyn Belisle, "four out of our 10 players were out with virus pneumonia. Our center, Pat Richter, didn't play in two of the three games we lost."

Tremendous Desire

"This team has had tremendous determination and desire," Belisle continued.

East, seventh in the Big 16 poll with a record of 19-3, has never won a state title.

East is banking on a fairly potent attack of its own to offset Superior's acknowledged strength. The main gun in the Purgold's arsenal is 6-3 Ron Staley, a senior who has scored 451 points.

Two other seniors, 6-5 Dave Heisig and 6-2 Bob Powers, and a junior, 6-4 Pat Richter, complement Staley. Heisig has 300 points to his credit; Powers, most valuable player in the Big Eight this season, 261; and

Perfect Record

Coach Walter "Doc" West of Central will counter with two seniors and three juniors who have been most instrumental in the Vikings' perfect 21-0 record and No. 2 standing in the Big 16. Central does not belong to a conference.

The starters are seniors John Zwackman and Phil Gieslen, both 6-3, and juniors Don Kruger, 6-4, and Gene Johnson and Don Van Bibber, both 5-10.

Zwackman is the Vikings' leading scorer with 487 points. Superior Central won the state title in 1920, 1935 and 1936 and finished second in 1924, 1934 and 1955.

Menashan Grabs Class A Lead in 'Wega Tourney

Weyauwega — Menasha's "Moe" Coenen accumulated an 889 count to take over the Class "A" lead in the twelfth annual individual handicap sweepstakes tournament at Radtke's.

Two other bowlers also edged past the erstwhile leader—Menasha's Joe Spilski—in the division for those with averages of 171 or over. Appleton's "Will" Falk posted an 853 for four games, plus handicap, and Menasha's Bob Ross has had an 852.

Newcomers also grabbed the top two spots in class "B"—for 170 averages and bowlers with 170 and under. Oshkosh's George Mitchell amassed an 886, while W. Spuhler, of the same city, got an 859. The former leader, Charles Jansen, of Kimberly, is now third with 855.

In Class "C" (for 155-and-under-average bowlers), Menasha's Myron Drum is the new leader, with 867. Red Granite's Jim Williams tied Readfield's Al Drews for second with 855.

Phoenix, Ariz. — "Dusty" Rhodes' headaches apparently are due to inflammation of a scalp artery, trainer Frank Bowman of the San Francisco Giants said today.

The left-handed hitting outfielder, noted as a pinch batter, showed up in the Giants dressing room Wednesday. He said he felt better but still not good. "Dusty" was advised to rest until Monday when further results of the examinations will be available.

Lawrence Says: Court Allows Deductions on Illegal Business Wages, Rent Ruled Necessary Expenses By High Tribunal

Washington — Most people probably will be shocked to learn that the Supreme Court of the United States has just ruled that it's all right for the Federal Internal Revenue service to grant an income-tax deduction on expenses incurred by persons who are engaged in operating businesses that violate state laws.

Thus, the state of Illinois has a law forbidding the operation of gambling enterprises, but the Supreme Court says the persons engaged in it had a right to deduct rent and the wages of their employees before paying federal taxes on profits.

The U.S. Tax court had found that these enterprises were illegal under Illinois law, that he acts performed by the employees constituted violations of that law, that the payment of rent for the use of the premises was also illegal under that law, and that hence the amounts paid for wages and rents should not be allowed as a deduction of federal income-tax purposes.

Reverses View

The Supreme Court, however, reversing this view, said the expenses were "ordinary and necessary" and hence deductible. The court pointed to a regulation of the U.S. internal revenue code which permits the deduction of federal excise taxes levied on persons "engaged in the business of accepting wagers or conducting wagering pools or lotteries."

How the Supreme Court could tolerate such a regulation, which makes it more profitable for persons violating state laws to conduct their businesses, is a mystery that is not explained by a reading of the text of the latest decision. In fact, on Monday of this week the Supreme Court handed down two other decisions that refused to allow deductions for income-tax purposes on the thousands of dollars paid by trucking companies in state fines incurred in violation of state laws. These laws penalize truck drivers for excess weights of loads in their trucks.

The court said in its opinion that, even if the truck drivers and their companies "acted with all due care and without any intent, it is clear that allowance of the deduction sought by the petitioner would severely and directly frustrate state policy."

Third Decision

Yet, in the third decision, involving deductions of expenses for gambling establishments, the Supreme Court closed its eyes to the possible "frustration" of state policy by making it easier for the gambling enterprises to make money. For certainly if their expenses were not held deductible, the added burden would operate as a penalty against their continuance of enterprises outlawed by the legislature of the state of Illinois.

The Supreme Court took refuge in the fact that the U. S. Internal Revenue regulations permit the taking of such deductions. But this does not explain why the court, which can at any moment invalidate a federal statute, could not do so.

Grand Chute Chairman Votes At Appleton Council Meeting

The town chairman of the town of Grand Chute Wednesday night for the first time in city history cast a vote at the city council meeting.

Chairman Arthur Lecker's vote was affirmative on the question of whether the city should sell $1,100,000 in bonds to pay for construction of the Huntley school.

He was entitled to a vote, City Clerk Elden Broehm said, because of the Outagamie and Calumet county school committees' order last Aug. 28 attaching part of former non-operating District 10 to the city for school purposes only.

Broehm said he was notified of Lecker's rights by Chapman and Cutler, Chicago bonding consultants hired by the city.

Not Come Up

City Atty. Don Jory said today the question of whether the town chairman is entitled to vote on appropriation of other monies, namely the school budget each year, has not come up.

State law seems to say the town chairman is entitled to at least one vote no matter the size of the attached area and to an additional vote for every $200,000 in state equalized value which the attached area has over the first $200,000 in equalized value.

Didn't Vote Earlier

Lecker said he thinks he is entitled to vote on the budget, but hasn't been so informed yet.

In Menasha, where a similar situation exists, the town chairman votes on all matters pertaining to school monies.

Town residents who are in the attached territory are entitled to seek election to the school board and to vote for school commissioners.

Since the school board in the city doesn't have fiscal independence, but must get its money from the council, the law giving the town chairman a vote is an attempt to protect the town residents' rights.

Town residents within former Non-Operating District 1 and part of former Non-Operating District 10, both of which were ordered attached last year, were taxed this year by the city council for their shares of city school taxes. Lecker, however, didn't vote on the proposed levy.

Residents of District 1, Jory has ruled, are not entitled to vote in the April 1 election of two-school commissioners. He says an appeal by life city from the county school committees' order means the order is set aside at least temporarily.

Adenauer Says Germany Must Follow NATO

Bonn — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today that West Germany must equip itself with atomic weapons and permit rocket bases on its soil if NATO considers that necessary for western defense.

Otherwise, Adenauer told the socialist opposition, West Germany must get out of the North Atlantic alliance.

"If we refuse the technical advice of NATO military experts," he declared, "then we are withdrawing from NATO."

West Germany cannot withdraw from NATO, he continued, if it is determined to play its part in defending the free world against potential Soviet aggression.

West Germany's opposition labor party has been loudly demanding that Adenauer's government renounce atomic weapons and refuse to let American missiles be based in West Germany in hopes that this would make the Russians more amenable to German reunification.

The government so far has not committed West Germany to accepting either nuclear weapons for its own forces or NATO missile bases. Nor have the recommendations for base sites been made public by NATO's military planners, although they are expected to be submitted at a meeting next month of the alliance members' defense ministers.

Appears Likely

West Germany appears likely to be one military choice for the missiles which can reach Russia. NATO's supreme commander, U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, said in an interview last month that "atomic weapons for defensive purposes are absolutely essential for the defense of West Germany."

West Germany must not be committed to weapons of several generations ago.

Speaking in a major foreign policy debate, Adenauer once more told the bundestag—the lower house of parliament—that the Russians are the potential aggressor, then NATO is have long-distance rockets and atomic weapons.

"If an important part of NATO does not have the same weapons to use against the potential aggressor, then NATO is reduced to insignificance," he declared.

Hearing Set on Rezoning for Gas Station

Perry Lot Again Being Considered For Commercial Use

Neenah — A public hearing on the proposed rezoning of a S. Commercial street lot for a gas station will be held April 2, the city council ordered Wednesday night.

The rezoning, defeated by the council once before, has been petitioned for again by Miss Olla M. Perry, who owns the lot on the southwest corner of Caroline and Commercial streets.

A hearing also will be held at the same time on the possible rezoning of all of S. Commercial street between Caroline street and Winneconne avenue from residential to commercial district. The city plans commission recommendation to the council that the Perry lot be rezoned and also suggested that consideration be given to the larger rezoning plan.

It is understood that if the Perry property is rezoned it will be purchased by the Socony Mobil Oil company, which will move its present facilities from S. Commercial and Columbian avenue to the new site.

Residents of the S. Commercial street area voiced disapproval of the original petition at a public hearing Jan. 16. The council rejected the petition, and the accompanying plans commission recommendation, on Feb. 5.

Two Other Petitions
In other rezoning action the council referred two more petitions to the plans commission for study. One was from Ervin G. Rehbein who requested the rezoning from single family to multiple family residence district on his property on Higgins avenue from Quarry lane to Langley boulevard. Rehbein also petitioned for the rezoning from two-family residence to commercial district on a lot on Andrew street just south of Main street.

A petition was received from the William F. Krueger estate for the rezoning of the land on Main street just west of N. John street from multiple family residence to industrial district.

Dedication of the New $80,000 Addition to Tullar school in the town of Neenah has been set for Sunday afternoon with a program and open house. The program will mark the centennial observance of the school district and will feature a talk by the state superintendent of public instruction, George E. Watson. The upper picture shows the exterior of the new classroom and multi-purpose room addition while just above is an inside view of the new multi-purpose room which will be used for recreation and programs. Works Program Gets Underway in Neenah

Council Declares Intention to Make Special Levies

Neenah — This city's street, sewer and water program for 1958 moved one step ahead Wednesday night when the city council declared its intentions to exercise special assessment powers against property owners who would benefit by the improvements.

The exact amount of the individual assessments will not be known until after bids have been accepted for the work, the next step in the plan.

April 2 was set as a hearing date for certain street improvements: Work in the Edgewood plat will be begun without a public hearing; waivers having been filed by the property owners there.

Scheduled for the public hearing is the paving and curb and gutter installation on Loper and Jane courts, N. Lake street from Main street to the Soo Line railway tracks, Monroe street from Henry to Isabella streets, Adams street from Isabella to Church streets, Washington avenue from Oak to Congress streets, E. Winneconne avenue from S. Commercial street to Washington avenue; Maple street from Division street to Laudan boulevard; Torrey street, Smith street from Torrey to Brien streets and the west 200 feet of Marten street, Columbian avenue west of Church street, Harrison street from Jackson to Cecil streets, Grove street from Dieckhoff to Cecil streets and Reed street from Division street to Washington avenue.

Grade and Gravel
Scheduled for grading and graveling are Baldwin street, Hickory lane, Bridgwood drive, Marathon street, Byrd avenue from Peckham avenue to Marathon street and Reddin avenue south of Cecil street.

Appleton Man Topsy Driver

Raymond Marsh, 32, Fined $100, Costs In Oshkosh Court

Oshkosh — Raymond F. Marsh, 32, 117 E. Harris street, Appleton, was found guilty of drunken driving Wednesday and fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger.

Marsh who pleaded innocent earlier was not present at the trial. Marsh was arrested on Highway 41 in the town of Neenah on March 3. His driving license was also revoked for one year.

Menasha Had No Lost-Time Injuries During February

Menasha — There were no lost-time accidents in Menasha during February, the city council was informed Tuesday night.

The monthly accident report showed there were only two accidents in February. The city's 15 month lost-time accident record was broken in January, March 31, at the Neenah club. Robert Swanson of the Optimists club will be program chairman.

Police Emphasize Need for Station

Department Lists Inadequacies In Letter to Neenah Aldermen.

Neenah — The city's need for a new police station was made a matter of official city council record Wednesday night when a communication from the police department was read to the aldermen.

Voters will approve or disapprove of a proposed station in the April 1 bond referendum.

The police department letter said "29 men are now working out of a station built 70 years ago for a 3-man force when it had no vehicles, no radio and no records to be filed."

"The jail was condemned by the state of Wisconsin 4½ years ago and we have no 'lock-up.' Luckily our good friends in Menasha allow us to use their jail, at a fee, of course. This means transporting prisoners to Menasha and returning there if we have further reason to question them.

"If the prisoners are female or juvenile, they must be transported to Oshkosh. . . During the time of these unnecessary trips the department is short on patrol, and in some cases off-duty policemen are called in."

Sanitation 'Deplorable'
Sanitation was described as "deplorable" in the police memorandum, which noted that the only rest room for the 29 employees was a 5 by 7 foot cell located next to the sergeant's desk.

The police noted that no facilities are available in the present building for interrogation of prisoners, identification, juvenile privacy or recruit and in-service police training.

The only garage, according to the police letter, is an old one, about to be torn down, which houses one car and the small rescue boat.

Four motorcycles are kept at the city garage, a mile from the station, and equipment is kept both at the station and the garage. The other two police cars and the $2,600 Red Cross emergency trailer stand outdoors in all weather, the police report noted.

The new police station, which will cost about $270,000, includes complete housing and service facilities for all these items, plus necessary special purpose rooms.

Neenah Mill Receives Highest Safety Honor

Kimberly-Clark Plant Given Top Award For Low Accident Frequency Rate in 1957

Neenah — Kimberly-Clark corporation's Neenah mill, fourth place winner in safety among class A pulp and paper mills of the United States and Canada in 1957, has been given an "award of honor" by the National Safety council for its low accident frequency rate of 1.66 accidents per million man-hours worked.

N. H. Deaborn, council president, said the plant qualified for the award because of its low injury rates in 1957. The frequency rate of 1.66 is 72 percent better than par for the pulp and paper industry, he noted.

The "award of honor" is the highest recognition given for an outstanding safety record. It is presented only where a plant's record satisfies rigid requirements laid down in the council's award plan for recognizing good industrial safety records.

Three Other Awards
Neenah mill, a combination of plants with its Badger-Globe and Lakeview divisions, employs over 2,000 people. Its last "award of honor" came in 1951 and it has won three awards of merit, presented in recognition of noteworthy safety performance.

One of the merit awards came in 1956 for operating 1,840,558 man hours without a disabling injury. Another award was presented that same year and the third in 1952.

The "award of honor" was earned through the combined efforts of the employees, the support of Local 482 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, of Local 467 of the United Papermakers; and the foremen participation in the Lateiner course which brought concentration on unsafe acts and unsafe conditions.

The work of the safety steering committee, departmental committees and the mill contests and promotions which aroused continued interest and enthusiasm in accident prevention were also instrumental factors in establishing the mill's best safety record.

National Council

Menasha — A dual award was received by the Ashland plant of Marathon division of American Can company and certificates of achievement were received by seven other Marathon plants from the National Safety council.

The Ashland plant placed first for safety in Group D of the pulp and paper industry. This group includes plants working from 21,226 to 42,500 man-hours a month.

It also received an award of merit which is the second best award of the safety council. This goes to plants which have gone a year without a lost-time accident and which has accomplished from one million to three million man-hours, regardless of the calendar year. It has taken the Ashland plant three years of no lost-time accidents to reach the million man-hours figure.

Certificates of achievement have been won by the Menasha Canal, Menasha River street, Green Bay, Menominee Mich., Marathon, Ontario, Wausau and Modesto, Calif., plants.

This certificate is granted by the National Safety council to plants which have improved their accident frequency rate over last year's rate and which also have that rate lower than the average of the plants in that particular group.

An ice skating rink which the Rev. Mr. Rem built at their Arkdale parsonage provided not only the Rem children and their friends with winter recreation, but was the scene of many adult skating parties. "You should have seen all the rusty skates which some of the parents resurrected when everybody started ice skating there," added Mrs. Rem.

Music Room — A room of the parsonage which houses the piano is designated as the music room, another of the Rems' interests. She was a member of the Lutheran college choir and toured with the group. "While we were travelling I was the choir nurse and our only accident happened when the first aid kit fell and hit one of the members on the head," Mrs. Rem added with a smile.

While her husband was attending the seminary at St. Paul, Mrs. Rem was busy learning what is expected of a pastor's wife. "It was a wonderful experience studying with my husband while he was at school," she added. "Otherwise I would have been overwhelmed at all the activities and duties of a parsonage."

Two Afternoon Dresses Meant to Lead the Easter parade and to remain a favorite in a shopper's wardrobe for many seasons to come are the pure silk dresses modeled above by Mrs. John Trilling and Mrs. David Lenz. Mrs. Trilling's navy blue dress is accented in white with its bib-like tier collar and white edging at the three-quarter length sleeves. Her sailor-type hat trimmed with a matching navy bow is one of the new chapeau styles. The bateau neckline on the navy polka dot dress worn by Mrs. Lenz dips to a low V-line for back interest. The barrel-type skirt allows freedom of movement. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Pecotte Cops Title Underclassmen Snare Top 3 Places In Catholic League Scoring Race

Menasha — Fox Valley Catholic conference scorers failed to match the prolific feats of some of their predecessors but nevertheless put on an interesting race during the 1957-58 campaign.

Scoring honors went to a sophomore, Bob Pecotte of Marquette. Pecotte collected 165 points. His total was one of the smallest winning marks in recent years but he was handicapped in several games with an elbow injury.

Pecotte became the first sophomore to take honors since St. Mary's Ron Dibelius placed first during the 1953-54 season. He had 171 points.

Then came big Joe Mack of St. Norbert, who hit 282 and 338 points respectively in 1955 and 1956 to set new records each year. Ron Weigman of St. John tallied 178 to win the title a year ago.

Pecotte, who gained the lead in the late stages of the season, scored 59 field goals and 47 free throws. His charity shot total was best in the league but he yielded field goal honors to Mike Scott of Fond du Lac Springs, who had 69.

Jansen Scores 144

Another sophomore, Ed Hammen of St. John, garnered second place with 157 points and Mike Scott of Springs, leader for part of the season, closed third with 156. He is a junior.

Stewart Jansen of St. Norbert was the highest scoring senior with 144 points and another fourth-year student, Ron Bertagnoli of Premontre, had 128 for fifth.

The top four totals of last year bettered Pecotte's 165. Don Roland of Lourdes, who dropped out of school this year was second with 169 and Dick Montanati of St. Mary and Gary Simoens of St. Norbert tied for third and fourth with 168.

Jim Cibula of Premontre and Don Cook of Lourdes had the lowest number of fouls among the year-long regulars, nine each. Oddly enough another Cibula, Dave, also of Premontre, was the top fouler a year ago.

Lyle Neinhaus of St. John had the most this season, 39.

Tops Returns

St. Mary's highest scoring senior was Pat Below with 105 and the top underclassman was Norm Brown with 79. Bertagnoli led the Premontre seniors with 144 and Gary Kroner (108) was tops among the returning players.

Hammen's 157 led the St. John underclassmen and Noel VandenHeuvel's 85 paced the seniors. Jansen was the top scoring St. Norbert senior and Tom Parenteau, a junior, top returnee with 66. Jerry Klister was another high-scoring Squire senior with 111.

Lourdes has only one fourth-year student, Jim Kiefer, who tallied 80 points, while Springs boasts two seniors, Dave Wigton (111) and Tom Herre (97).

Shawano Gives M-E 40th Club At State Meet

Area Conference Teams Have Taken 7 Championships

Menasha — Shawano's appearance in the state basketball tournament this afternoon marked the fortieth time that a club from the current Mid-Eastern conference has participated in the big meet.

The league has won seven state championships, including three of the last five. Shawano boasts four crowns and Menasha, Neenah and Two Rivers one each. The Rockets copped the loop's first title in 1930 for the loop's first title. The Indians first won in 1938, when, coached by Cliff Dilts, former St. Mary mentor, they topped Beaver Dam 33-30 for the class B title. They defeated Marshfield 23-22 for state honors the next year.

Blanked Until 1953

In 1940, Two Rivers, the last unbeaten squad to go all the way downed the Indians 35-23 in the finals. The loop was blanked until 1953 when Menasha gained the crown. The Shawano five bested Madison West for the title last year and defeated Appleton in the finals the preceding season.

Including this year's trek, Shawano has been at the meet 12 times and in the first 11 owns 29 wins and eight losses. Neenah has been to the "state" 12 times and has a 24-16 mark. Menasha has been in the state meet at Madison four times and also played in a state invitational meet at Lawrence college in 1915. The Jays have an 8-4 record.

9-4 Record

Two Rivers, in five trips, accumulated nine wins and four losses. Kimberly has a 3-3 record in two jaunts and New London has a 1-9 record in four journeys to the capital city.

The league has had a team at the state meet in 12 of the last 13 years, 1954 being the exception.

The best records were chalked up last year when it gained a first and third place on efforts by Shawano and Two Rivers and in 1941 when representatives of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference, the Raiders (eastern division) tripped Shawano (western division) for the title and De Pere, another eastern division representative and Menasha district winner, copped the consolation crown. At that time 16 teams made the state trek instead of the current eight club field.

Noted Comedian Sam Wheeler To Appear With Harlem Squad

Menasha — One of the most talented showmen in professional basketball, Sam "Boom-Boom" Wheeler, will be one of the stars appearing with the Harlem Magicians in their game against the Boston Shamrocks Saturday night, March 29, at the Menasha High school gym.

The program is sponsored by the Menasha Athletic association and the feature game will be prefaced by a test between the Macs and New Holstein. A "pee-wee" game between two fourth and fifth grade teams will be played between halves of the main contest.

Wheeler, 6-3 native of St. Louis, is a 13-year veteran of professional ball and one of the most famous comedians in the game. He received his collegiate experience at Philander Smith college at Little Rock, Ark.

Wheeler joined the Kansas City Stars in 1943 and in 1946 joined the Harlem Globetrotters for 11 seasons before going with the Magicians this season.

He has an array of comedy routines and gags and in addition to his clowning has been acclaimed as one of the greatest all-around players ever to perform on the hardwood.

The basketball clown, vice president of the Magicians organization, had as his teammates such cage notables as Marques Haynes and Josh Grider, among others.

Oshkosh — Plans for an all-out membership drive were formulated at a meeting of Winnebago county Young Republicans here Wednesday night.

All new members signing up before April 10 are eligible as delegates to the YGOP convention slated for Racine later in the month, according to Robert Macke, Jr., county YGOP chairman.

The YGOP convention precedes the state convention of the Republican party in Milwaukee in May and will be a preview of GOP action on candidates and policies.

Macke explained that young members of the Republican party for the first time will have direct responsibility for campaign support of state legislators. "Get out the Republican vote" activities will highlight the YGOP attack, Macke said.

Next meeting of the county Young Republican group will be at 7:30 next Wednesday night at the Town house at Oshkosh.

Second Immunization Clinic Held at School

UW Extension Plight Stirs Neenah Council

enough for the enrollment are not available.

"If it pulls out, it may never come back," said Ald. Warren Sanders. Sanders suggested that the "salvation" of the extension might be a county project, or even a bi or tri-county project. Neenah - Menasha seems the most logical location in the area, he said, since Appleton has Lawrence college and Oshkosh has a state college.

"We pay a sizeable county tax at this end of the county and are entitled to some improvements," Sanders said. He pointed out the county board authorized a quarter of a million dollars for the new terminal at the county airport at Oshkosh.

Ald. Ray Murphy urged that the city waste no time in voicing its desire to keep the school, since other cities, notably Kaukauna, are interested in acquiring it.

Ald. Dan Luebke moved the preparation of a resolution on the matter and also that a meeting be effected between the council and the Neenah county supervisors as soon as possible after the April 1 election.

Neenah — The possible loss of the University of Wisconsin Extension from the Twin City area aroused a concern among Neenah aldermen Wednesday night as they unofficially urged county action on the matter.

The extension of the state university, currently holding classes in the old Jensen clinic in Menasha, has said that it may have to leave the area because facilities large

Possibility of Local Planning Staff Explained

Suggests Unit be Part of Regional Plans Commission

Neenah — The Fox valley cities have "a wonderful opportunity" to get experienced local planners, Clarence A. Hammond, director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission, told members of the Neenah Kiwanis club Wednesday.

Hammond suggested that a full-time local planning section be incorporated into the commission. The commission itself is a cooperative effort of 17 local governing bodies aimed at area-wide improvements.

A local planning staff, as Hammond described it, would sell its services to the member municipalities but would facilitate coordination among the various governmental units by eliminating costly mistakes and unnecessary duplications. The cost of drafting, stenography and bookkeeping would also be reduced by such a pool.

It would be impossible because of the shortage of qualified planners for each city to set up individual planning units, Hammond said. The total cost of his proposal would be about $60,000, he said. It would cost each city about $30,000 to set up local units.

Regional Plan
A local planning staff, working under the regional planning unit, Hammond said. The total cost of his proposal would be about $60,000, he said. It would cost each city about $30,000 to set up local units.

Regional Plan
A local planning staff, working under the regional planning commission, would carry out local planning always cognizant of a larger regional plan. Hammond noted that some larger cities which have municipal planning departments now are becoming aware that regional plans are needed.

At the present time none of the Fox Valley cities, villages or towns have local planning offices. Hammond said that a local planning staff under the commission would preclude the reshuffling and reassessed needs that the larger cities are now running into.

Concerning regional planning Hammond said that local pride is the most important single facet in working out plans for the entire area. "No city wants all its streets to dead-end at the city limits. It wants visitors to come in and see what it has," Hammond stated. Regional planning is not a threat to local autonomy, he stressed.

Need Cooperation
Cooperation among the various governing bodies is also important, Hammond said. As an illustration he pointed to the need of a highway between the Twin Cities and the Kaukauna area to accommodate paper mill workers who live in either area and work in the other.

Action on such a highway would mean cooperation between five local governing bod-

2 Menasha Boys Plead Innocent to Conduct Charge

Neenah—Two Menasha teenagers pleaded innocent to disorderly conduct this morning before Police Justice Edmund P. Arpin. One of them is to be arraigned in municipal court, Oshkosh, Friday on a charge of possessing lewd pictures.

Charged with disorderly conduct are Merle T. Brantmeier, 416 Second street, and Ralph S. Schierl, 904 Broad street. Both are 18. They were taken

County Holds Suspect for Federal Marshal

Oshkosh — A 42-year-old man is being held in the Winnebago county jail for the FBI and possible charges of auto theft and larceny.

Lester Catron, of Milwaukee and Carthage, Mo., was taken into custody in the town of Menasha by Neenah police at the request of sheriff's police Wednesday afternoon. Catron was reported to the sheriff's office by a town of Oshkosh tavern keeper who noticed that his car had two different license numbers.

The car, found in Neenah, was stolen from a Carthage, Mo., dealer early in February. Several other stolen items also were found.

Catron himself was found walking on the railway tracks near N. Lake street and county trunk Highway 11. He admitted to Sheriff Charles Lowry having served a prison term in Missouri for forgery, three terms in Wyoming for car theft and two federal terms for car theft.

Catron is also wanted on a warrant from Leavenworth prison, Kansas, for violating a conditional prison release.

Neenah Street, Sewer Program Gets Underway

Edgewood drive, Crescent drive south of Congress street, Hawthorne street, Whittier drive, Emerson street, Lowell place, Cambridge court and Campbell street south of Alcott drive.

Sanitary sewers, water main sewer laterals and watertap will be installed on the east side of S. Commercial street south of Peckham street and south of Maple street south of Alcott drive, Berkeley street, Edgewood drive, Emerson street, Lowell place, Cambridge court and Alcott drive between S. Commercial and Maple streets.

Campbell street south of Alcott drive is due for water mains, south of Berkeley street for watertaps and south of Edgewood drive for sanitary sewer and sewer laterals.

Change Peckham Street
In other activity the council ordered a public hearing April 16 on a change in the official map to show Peckham street as a straight street between S. Commercial and Maple street. Originally a curve was planned in the street so that no job would be necessary at the Maple street intersection, but the land needed was found to be too expensive to permit such a curve.

The council accepted a check for $13,468 from the state highway commission as partial reimbursement for 1958 street activity.

Marathon street, heretofore unnamed, was officially named by the council. The street parallels the new Marathon general office on the south side of the city.

Easter Hams to Cost More Than Last Year

Most Other Meat Prices Remain High, Some Produce Bargains Available

Families determined to have the traditional Easter ham for their upcoming holiday menu probably will be paying up to 10 cents more per pound than they did last year.

That's the prediction of Appleton retailers, who find the offerings in their crystal ball not as rosy as last year. Ham prices probably will be about 50 cents a pound if not more by the time Easter menus are being planned.

Most meat prices still remain high and chickens stay in the lead as top protein buys. The birds are about 39 cents a pound for stew hens and from 43 to 49 cents a pound for fryers.

Considered moderate to high priced are pork roasts upward from 59 cents, spare ribs at 57 cents, pork steak from 53 to 59 cents, sirloin from 99 to $1.05, round steak from 83 to 89 cents, pork chops from 85 to 89 cents, rump roast from 79 to 89 cents and veal chops at 89 cents a pound. Eggs remain high. Grade A large from 59 to 61 cents a dozen are the best buys. Pullet supplies should be increasing in a few weeks when they'll probably depose large sizes from the best buy lead.

A preview of good things to come is offered on produce counters this week. Peaches, plums and nectarines have found their way to Appleton stores, although prices are very high. They'll be coming down as soon as warm weather progresses.

Right now, peaches are 69 cents, red plums are 49 cents and nectarines at 39 cents a pound. And strawberry fans, take note. Louisiana berries are due here around April 1.

Most economical fruit buys this week are apples—wine-saps at 18 cents and delicious at 20 cents—grapefruit at 10 for 59 cents, red grapes at 20 cents a pound, pineapple at 35 cents apiece and pears at 20 cents a dozen.

California navel oranges are still extremely high and range from 69 to 88 cents a dozen, depending on size. Temple oranges also are high at 59 cents a dozen.

Prices Jump

There'll be bargains on vegetable counters this weekend, although prices on several items have jumped. Most notable increases are Wisconsin potatoes up to 10 pounds for 69 cents and Idahoes at 10 pounds for 79 cents—both jumps of about 10 cents per pound. High prices should continue for the next two months until new crops come to market. Since the potatoes now are coming from storage, check for quality when selecting them.

Lettuce, too, has taken a 10-cent jump and is up to 29 cents a head. Market men say it's because supplies from California's Imperial valley are tapering off and lettuce from other sections of California and Arizona are just getting started.

Best vegetable buys are asparagus at 29 cents a pound (it'll be lower soon), cauliflower at 29 cents a head, broc-

Pacific Salmon In Five Species

Salmon flesh ranges from pink to bright red, marking the colors of the five Pacific coast species—Chum, Pink, Silver, King, Sockeye—the Chum being the palest, the Sockeye the brightest red. Any may be used for this recipe for Creamy Salmon Molds.

Creamy Salmon Molds
1 cup butter
2 tablespoons corn starch
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks, lightly beaten
1 small can salmon, drained and flaked
1 cup canned peas
1 cup heavy cream
2 pinches, if desired

Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in corn starch. Add salt and milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until well mixed and thickened.

Remove from heat and stir gradually into beaten egg yolks. Stir in flaked salmon, peas, cream, blending well.

Pour salmon mixture into greased individual fish molds or custard cups, or into a large greased mold. Set molds in a pan of hot water. Bake at 375 degrees 40 to 60 minutes, depending on size of molds, or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Loosen around edges with a sharp knife and unmold immediately.

If desired garnish with strips of pimiento to form shape of fish.

Codfish Cakes Take To Tomato Soup Sauce

Try codfish cakes with sauce for dinner made this easy way: Rinse one package (4 ounces) shredded codfish in cold water as directed on package. Squeeze out excess water.

Heat one package frozen mashed potatoes until completely thawed. Blend with codfish and a dash of black pepper. Shape into cakes. Cook in two tablespoons butter until browned on both sides.

Serve with this sauce: Combine one can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup and two teaspoons lemon juice. Heat thoroughly.

coll at 29 cents a bunch and spinach at 29 cents a pound.

Still rather high are celery at 29 cents a bunch, carrots at 19 cents a bunch, radishes at 8 cents a bunch, cucumbers at 19 cents apiece, green peppers at 19 cents apiece, green cabbage at 10 cents a pound and red cabbage at 19 cents a pound.

Spring Rice

Noted culinarians suggest that when you cook one cup raw rice, add two tablespoons butter, one and one-fourth teaspoons salt and three-fourths

An Automatic Grocery Bagging Machine is being tested in grocery stores in an effort to speed up grocery checkout operations. As each item of the customer's order is rung up on the cash register, it is positioned simultaneously by the checker in a well built into the checkstand. At the touch of a button, a bag is automatically slipped over the merchandise. The filled bag then is lifted by the machine to a vertical position and moved aside, where it is accessible to the carry-out boy.

Dormitory Statistics

Colman Hall Show Place of Campus, but Workhorse, Also

Lucinda Darling Colman residence hall for women at Lawrence college, has been considered one of the institution's beauty spots, but according to figures compiled by Miss Jean Curtis, resident head, it also is the workhorse of the campus.

During Colman's first year of operation, it served meals to 1,530 guests as well as its regular job of turning out three meals a day for 260 women. During 1956-57, such groups as college administrators, the Co-operative Buyers association, Careers and Religion in Life conferences, Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board, Lawrence alumni association, and several college committees were served banquets in Colman's dining room. During the same year, 229 persons were accommodated in the 3-room guest suite, located apart from student rooms on the first floor.

In the first half of the current year, last year's marks were almost equalled. Until January, 1,388 guest meals had been served. Another 466 meals had been served to campus organizations. The guest rooms, in the same half-year, entertained 176 guests.

In addition to these events, which come under the supervision of Miss Iva Welch, director of dormitories, a variety of student social life has been possible in the Pan-Hellenic wing of the building. With a fully-equipped kitchen now available to students, several Greek groups have sponsored suppers, and two sororities have entertained other chapters from state colleges.

Reasons Why Cake Peaks in Center

If your cake comes out with a peak in the center, you may have used too much flour, had the oven too hot at the beginning of the baking period or mixed the batter too long.

Potato Fluff

To make potato fluff, using four to six medium potatoes prepared as for mashed potatoes; add one whole egg and beat vigorously until mixture is fluffy; pile lightly in buttered baking dish and bake in very hot oven about 15 minutes until top is lightly browned.

Bluebird's Warble Due Any Day Now

BY CLARA HUSSONG
Green Bay — The phrase "any day now" must be in the minds and on the tongues of bird students in this area these days, for any day now we can expect to see the first of the birds heading north on their annual migration.

With the mild sunny days we've been having, the small amount of snow on the ground, it may happen even before this gets into print.

Food Important
The veteran bird watcher doesn't wait for his first bird to appear before him casually or accidentally, but has been looking and listening for days, even weeks. Every morning, as soon as he gets up, he opens a window, or his front or back door, to listen for a robin's soft "Cheerio!" or bluebird's loud warble. If there are fields or vacant lots near the bird watcher's home, his first spring bird may be a redwinged blackbird, a killdeer, or a meadowlark.

To the non-bird-student, the listing of a bluebird as the first spring bird doesn't seem

World's Woes Stay Constant Through Years

Common Sense Must Be Used in Problems, Senator Contends

BY NORRIS COTTON
U. S. Senator from New Hampshire

Washington—As I write this column, which I do gladly for Tom Stokes, I have just come from the senate floor where we are going through the same old treadmill on price supports and acreage control—cotton, corn, peanuts.

Riding the tram car back to my office, I was thinking, as I have a hundred times before, the common sense of the matter is that you can't find a way to bolster a failing product with high supports without boosting prices and stacking up surpluses.

Then I got to thinking about sparrows a day or two before we do here.

With the Fox river open, ducks and other water birds will be drifting northward too.

Most song birds travel only a few miles a day—or night—during migration. Robins which get as far as Green Bay on March 14, for instance, can be looked for in Oconto or Gillett the next day. Appleton residents see bluebirds and song

"common sense," an expression we yankees use constantly, so I looked it up in the dictionary. Webster defines it as "ordinary sense common to all men, free from national bias or intellectual subtlety, and not dependent on special or technical knowledge."

That's an arresting definition. It shows why we in congress often get tangled up in our thinking. Take "emotional bias." Why, the air is always charged with

"(This is another in the "statesmen's series" of columns being written by distinguished persons in government, business, national affairs and the military for Thomas L. Stokes who is seriously ill.)

Technical Knowledge
We are up against it, too, on the score of "intellectual subtlety." College professors lecture us on the finer distinctions of the philosophies of government. Diplomats brief us on the delicate phases of world relations. Sociologists instruct us on the causes of crime and delinquency. The "intellectual

Washington is enough to make your head swim. As for "technical knowledge," if you could sit with us in the committee rooms listening to scientists, military experts, and economists expound on everything from outer space to the stock market, you would quickly realize that while we certainly need all the information we can get, too much exposure to "technical knowledge" can confuse the layman and divert him from the direct, simple reasoning of common sense.

"Common sense" keeps us on an even keel, carefully avoiding over-confidence or needless fear. For your encouragement read this:

There was an editor who sat glumly at his desk, his brow was furrowed as he scanned the reports. Finally he began to write, and the words came slowly:

"It's a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years... not in the lifetime of most men who read this... has there been so much grave and deep apprehension."

"In France the political calendar scethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs as usual like a cloud, dark and silent upon the horizon; while the British empire is sorely tried in coping with the vast and dead-

Appleton Man Gets Patent on Paper Process

Device Regulates Flow of Stock Onto Machine Wire Screen

John R. Fanselow, Appleton, has been given a patent for a device to regulate paper stock consistency. The patent has been assigned to Kimberly-Clark corporation.

In manufacturing paper, components of the furnish or papermaking stock, such as fillers, fillers and other substances, are usually mixed in a beater. Following this operation, the stock may be subjected to other treatments and is diluted to a relatively low consistency or percentage of solid contents before it is deposited on the wire or screen of the papermaking machine. Variation in the consistency of the papermaking stock is a principal cause of undesirable fluctuations in the weight of the finished paper.

Fanselow says it has been difficult, using the best obtainable apparatus with the utmost skill and under the best conditions, to carry on continuous commercial papermaking operations in which the consistency is held within the desired range. This is particularly the case when the stock must be of relatively low consistency.

It is the object of Fanselow's invention to solve this problem with an apparatus which, it is claimed, maintains the consistency of the papermaking stock within a much closer limit or range than has been feasible.

His equipment includes a means for combining two flows of stock containing different percentages of the papermaking substances; a bleed line for continuously withdrawing a sample from this combined flow and an arrangement for forming a pond of such stock, the depth of which varies with its consistency. A float in this pond sets into action the mechanisms which operate to maintain the consistency of the combined flow constant.

Chilton Teacher Drops From School For European Trip

Chilton — Miss Ann McCullough, who teaches at Chilton High school, has decided not to accept her contract for the 1958-59 school year. Instead, she will travel to Europe, planning to leave June 9.

When she returns, Miss McCullough plans to return to college for graduate work.

Miss McCullough taught English and coached forensics for one year at Chilton.

Ralph Boswell Named First Aid Chairman

Ralph Boswell, Appleton, has been named new first aid chairman for the Outagamie county Red Cross chapter. He was appointed by the board of directors.

Coed Experiment

Here's How to Live On 50 Cents Per Day

BY ROBERT F. ALKIRE

Provo, Utah—Coeds at Brigham Young university are constantly doing what any housewife knows can't be done—eating on 50 cents per day. And they're doing it despite the rising cost of meat and potatoes.

The girls don't seem to lose weight: they get nutritious but simple meals and they have a reasonable varied diet.

They do it in a sort of 9-day combat course which senior girls in the homemaker curriculum run. The course was set up because homemaker instructors feel one of the things every girl should know is how to avoid starvation on a tight budget.

For 9-day stretches, two of the girls move to a separate apartment set up by the university. Mrs. Stella Lewis, homemaker instructor, hands over "hubby's" paycheck—a measly $10 for the nine-day period.

One girl becomes "husband" or "host" and the other becomes "planner" or "wife." With these trappings of reality, the shoe-string campaign begins.

Just to prove that life needn't be all steak, potatoes and dollars, seniors Pauline Barlow, 22, and Rachel

Schmidt, 23, produced the following evening meal:

Beef stew, dumplings, tossed salad with a microscopic slice of bacon and a razor-thin egg slice, milk (whole mixed with powdered and chilled to taste better) and apricot gelatin dessert.

The cost: just over 49 cents for both girls—or about 28 cents each.

Sumptuous dinners like that mean breakfast and lunch must be held to pennies per girl.

The meals wouldn't provide ballast for a lumberjack's fork, but they would hold him until he could find a restaurant.

Mrs. Lewis says the girls have no trouble living on 50 cents daily, despite the rising cost of comestibles. She says they all turn in a dollar or two from the $10 paycheck.

They are required to prepare three meals daily. Skipping breakfast or lunch brings on a wave of icebox raiding that depletes the budget.

The girls usually have one of two reasons for undergoing the nine-day treatment. Some will become home economics instructors or kitchen equipment demonstrators. Others are fully aware they probably won't snag a millionaire. They are preparing for the possible "worse" in the "for better or for worse" clause.

Coin Behind Fuse, Hot Wires Blamed For $1,000 Fire

A penny behind a fuse, and overloaded extension cords were blamed today for a fire which caused an estimated $1,000 damage to a small 4-room home on the south side late Wednesday night.

Mrs. Laura Felzer, 200 E. Coolidge avenue, owner of the home, was instructed this morning by City Electrical Inspector Fred Volkman to have the home rewired before turning on power again.

Firemen were called to the home twice Wednesday night, the first time at 9:50, the second time at 12:45 this morning. Both times the home was unoccupied and neighbors discovered the fire and called the department.

Chief Paul Neumann said the fire started in the kitchen, evidently from an overheated cord to the refrigerator. The fire traveled kitchen walls to the attic.

Power On Again

Firemen shut the power off when they arrived the first time and someone evidently turned it back on after they left, resulting in the second call, the chief said. Wires were bare after firemen left the first time.

Volkman explained that the home was serviced by one 15-ampere service. Most homes have two, three or four 15-ampere services.

The one 15-ampere service could not take all the electrical demand, Volkman said, and the penny behind the fuse prevented the fuse from blowing out. Volkman said it was conjecture that a fuse without the penny would have prevented the fire, since the wires probably would have overheated anyway.

Although East was aceless, he had considerable honor strength, hence he might well have shown a more competitive spirit after opening the bidding. However...

West led his fourth-highest diamond against the spade contract, and the ace was played from dummy. South then let the spade eight ride, knocking out West's blank ace. A low heart shift by West would have resulted in a heart ruff by his partner, which would have sealed the doom of the contract then and there, but West elected to continue diamonds — not that this should have been fatal to the defense.

Declarer ruffed the diamond and, having to reach dummy for a second trump lead, went over to the club ace and led another trump. He picked up East's five and queen of trumps, then laid down the heart queen. West ducked; East won and, quite properly, laid down the queen and jack of clubs, forcing dummy to ruff with its last trump. (A diamond return by East, making South use his last trump, would have been futile.)

Declarer was now hanging by spring and summer foods and dishes with an Easter theme. She will demonstrate the use of the stove, refrigerator and broiler to prepare easy, tasteful and attractive meals for the coming seasons.

The hostess chairman for the evening meeting will be Mrs. Lavern Weishoff, assisted by Mrs. John Kulhavy. Guests and perspective members have been asked to attend.

The Methodist Mothers' club furnishes and outfits the nursery of the church.

Pan-Hellenic Group Meets

Fox River Valley Pan-Hellenic members met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Allen Hansen, 305 E. Franklin street. The group is composed of two delegates from each of the six Greek letter sororities on the Lawrence College campus.

It was announced that a luncheon on April 24 will be held at a local restaurant. Presidents of sorority alumnae chapters are invited to attend with the delegates. Planning the event are Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Joseph Breisch, Mrs. Thomas Dietrich, and Mrs. Donald Metz.

For information concerning the Pan-Hellenic group, alumnae members of sororities not represented at Lawrence may contact Mrs. Arnold Evans.

Easter Cookery Program Planned

A variety of spring cookery will be demonstrated to the members of the Mothers' club of the First Methodist church when they meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the demonstration kitchen of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company, 218 W. College avenue.

Main speaker will be Miss Josephine Engel, home economist. Her program will include

Fresh Ideas Inspire Homemakers Serving Meatless Menus

Thoughts of the approaching Easter-tide and the return of meat to the diet lift morale of the homemaker as she struggles in charting meatless menus. As the lenten period slowly ebbs away, she turns to fresh ideas using the standbys of fish, eggs and dairy products to produce meals with flair and brand-new taste appeal.

Such dietary inspiration was offered the Appleton Homemakers group of the Appleton Vocational school recently when Mrs. Bernice Skarda, an instructor at AVS, presented a program on lenten foods and special Easter dishes.

One of her lenten suggestions was a baked fish fillet dish for the main course, accompanied by a crunchy green salad combining eggs and cottage cheese. Another menu idea treated fillets baked in aluminum foil with a topping of oysters and mushrooms.

Mrs. Skarda's fillet recipe entitled: Baked Fillets Pioneer Style follows:

2 medium onions
4 tablespoons butter
Salt
4 fish fillets
Olive oil
Pepper
1 cup buttered crumbs
Chopped parsley

Method: Slice onions very thin—saute in butter until just transparent. Salt to taste. Oil a shallow baking dish with olive oil. Arrange fillets on baking dish and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with onions and sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 12-15 minutes or until the fish is cooked. Sprinkle with parsley and serve with tartar sauce.

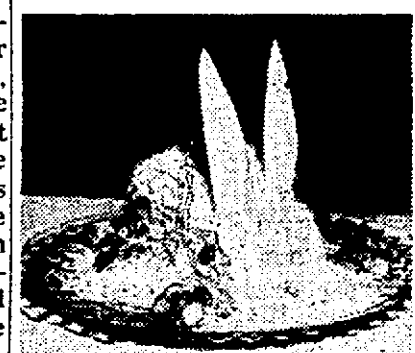

Crunchy Green Salad
To make the salad, the instructor combined 1/3 cup sour cream, one tablespoon sugar, two tablespoons vinegar. One chopped hard-cooked egg, salt to taste and one pimento. She added two tablespoons of this mixture to 1 pound cottage cheese, blending well and then refrigerated it about 20 minutes. When chilled, she served on salad green. The recipe which serves four can be used to accompany dinner or as a main luncheon dish with rolls or toast.

Oysters star with mushrooms in an easy-make fillet topping which calls for:

2 pounds fish fillets
1 can mushrooms, sliced and drained
1 pint oysters
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 cup sliced dill pickles
1 medium onion sliced
1 clove garlic, minced
salt and pepper to taste

Method: Place aluminum foil in shallow baking dish, extending four to five inches beyond edges of dish. Place two pounds of fillets on foil and cut two or three gashes on top of each fillet. Then arrange other ingredients on top of fish. Mix and drizzle 1 cup melted butter and one tablespoon lemon juice over fish. Wrap foil loosely over top and bake at 425 degrees for one hour. Fold back foil and serve from baking dish.

Among Easter buffet ideas were a pink pinwheel bavarian mold, fruit glazes for the traditional ham and a bunny cake complete with long ears and jelly bean eggs.

Pink Pinwheel Bavarian
2 cups sweetened sliced fresh strawberries or 2 10-ounce frozen packages
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin

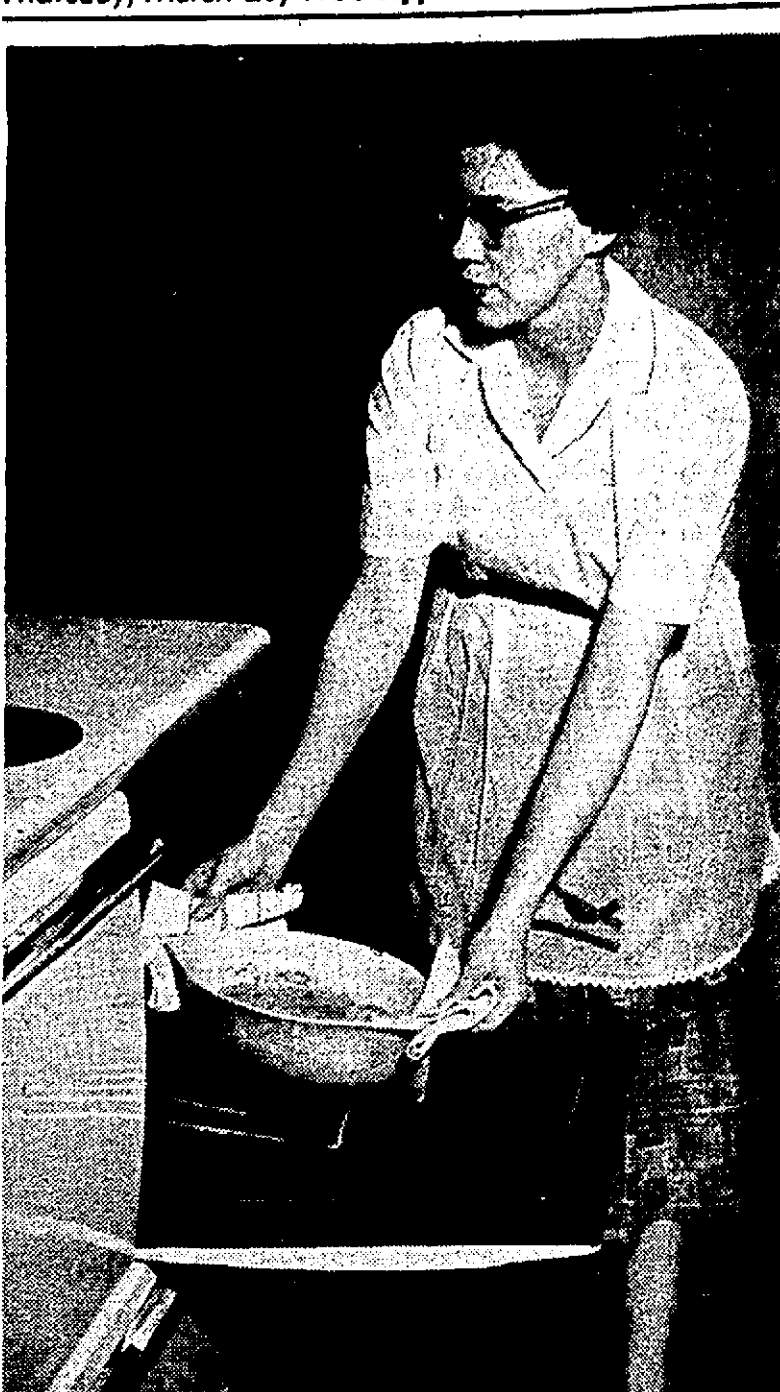

1 cup cold water
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups heavy cream whipped few drops red food coloring

about 5 slices jelly roll
Thaw berries if frozen. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Stir in berries, lemon juice and salt. Chill until partially set and then fold in whipped cream. Add food coloring for pink tint. Place jelly roll slices around edge of 8-inch spring form pan. Fill with berry mixture and chill until firm, about four hours. Garnish with strawberry halves on top and serve. Makes about 8-10 servings.

A Baked Fish Fillet Dish Was Slipped out of an oven by Mrs. Bernice Skarda, Appleton Vocational school instructor, who gave fresh ideas for meatless menus to Appleton Homemakers at a recent session in the cooking rooms of the school. The program covered both lenten recipes and Easter dishes. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Business Women Hear Talk On Poetry Appreciation

"Poetry appreciation" was the subject that Prof. George Walter spoke on at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Appleton Business and Professional Women's club held in the Y.M.C.A. The Lawrence college professor of the education department patterned his program after a college classroom.

A dinner preceded the program and business meeting with Mrs. Lella Mortimer and Miss Esther Kotke in charge. It was guest night and Mrs. Mable McClanahan, state president, Miss Stell Brandt, corresponding state secretary, Miss Helen Bell, Menasha, district chairman of the international relations committee, and Miss Jesse Smith, Ripon, district president, were special guests.

The group heard musical selections by pupils of Anthony Bacich, instrumental music coordinated by the Appleton Public Schools. Miss Pam Gruhn at the piano, Miss Sharon Bauerlein, with her violin, and Don Grobe, cello, were the entertainers.

April Showers Bring Forth Pretty, Colorful Rainwear

BY PATRICIA SCHULTZ
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

April showers not only will bring forth May flowers but also a host of colorful rainwear. The flower-sprinkled polka dots, geometric designs and French scenic prints as well. This year's rainwear has been designed with color and fashion flair—coats that will look as smart under sunny skies as they will on a drizzly day.

Red geraniums, clusters of purple violets and carnations tinted in all the hues on an artist's palette burst into bloom on fabrics treated for rain repellance. The flower-sprinkled coats are suitable for wear with plain-colored cotton frocks throughout the spring season.

The perennial favorite trench coat style with its foreign intrigue flavor again is found on the fashion racks. Smartly tailored, belted at the waist, the raincoat is made in tan, white, blue and black. The same style, often with tailoring modifications, is found in the brighter hues of red and yellow. The Garbo style "slouch" hat in the same material and style are available with many of the raincoats.

Rudeness in This Case A Defense

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a salesman for a large company and my job is to go from house to house trying to sell my company's product. I am rather new at this job but already I am discouraged — not because of my failure to sell the product, but because of the rudeness I have met. In many instances, before I am even given a chance to speak, the door is slammed in my face. I can understand people being wary about letting strangers into their houses, but I do think that they can at least show a little courtesy by listening for a very few minutes to what I have to say. I feel sure that this problem is familiar to many other salesmen, so won't you please write something in your column on this subject so that people will show us a little courtesy and not treat us as though we were beggars.

Answer: I think that the instances of rudeness you have met can be explained, if not condoned, as a defense against the sometimes encountered salesman who will not accept a polite no, but who aggressively force their way into a house and browbeat the houseowner into buying an unwanted article.

Error Not Imitated

Dear Mrs. Post: Someone told me that if a guest at table makes a mistake — such as using the wrong implement — the hostess should do the same in order to save the guest embarrassment. Will you please tell me if this is a rule of etiquette?

Answer: No — even if the hostess were alone with this particular guest it would not be a kindness to confirm her in her error by imitating it.

Return Pin

Dear Mrs. Post: May a girl keep a man's fraternity pin after their romance has cooled off? A fraternity pin is not exactly the same as an engagement ring, or is it?

Answer: The sentiment of a fraternity pin is very much the same as an engagement ring. You should certainly return it.

Your Problems

Those Blessed With Hearing Forget All are Not So Fortunate

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I have a problem I've never seen mentioned in your column. I'm totally deaf due to illness, but studied lip-reading and have a fair ability to understand. Although I repeatedly tell people that I have no hearing, they seem to think if they shout in my ear I will hear them. Sometimes they get so close to my face when they speak, I get cross-eyed trying to read their lips. Then, lip-reading becomes impossible. My doctor has insisted that I not withdraw from outside activity but it's slow torture to attend social affairs. I often have the feeling of being completely invisible because I'm ignored a good bit of the time. I never make demands or try to dominate a situation. All I ask is a little recognition that I'm doing my best and that I'm not so different from others. Do people think that because one is deaf he has no ideas, and therefore is of no value to a committee? Do they think that because one cannot hear he cannot speak, and ought to be passed over completely in conversation? Please, Ann, print this letter as a service. We who cannot hear need to be heard.—Mrs. E.M.R.

Dear Mrs. E.M.R.: Thank you for writing. Those of us who live in a world of sound often forget that not everyone is so fortunate. I hope your letter will remind us to be more considerate of our deaf friends. In most cases, the thoughtlessness is due to ignorance and a lack of experience with handicapped people. It's difficult for individuals who are blessed with the ability to hear and to see, to imagine what life is like for those who are deprived of these senses.

A letter such as yours is a sober reminder, and I hope it will contribute to better understanding.

DEAR ANN: I've been engaged to a girl for seven months. We went together three years but she refused to become officially engaged until I could buy her an $800 ring.

She works in an office building across the street from my dad's store, (which I run). I used to drive her home from work every night, until she began to make excuses that she was working late about three times a week.

I decided to play amateur detective last night to find out what was going on. As I suspected, she was picked up at quitting time by another guy who looked old enough to be her father.

I phoned her this morning and told her the show was over and to send back my ring. She said she was entitled to the ring because she'd gone with me for a long time and had earned it. What shall I do?—HEP HAPPY

If you're sure the guy who looked old enough to be her father wasn't her father, see a lawyer. An engagement ring is a promise to wed. Since she was seeing another man she obviously no longer intended to keep that promise. Under the circumstances, the ring should be returned.

DEAR ANN: I'm writing in regard to 18-year-old Lu Anne. She wanted to know if it was possible to straiten out a guy's drinking by marrying him and giving him "strength." I was in Lu Anne's shoes six months ago and wrote to you for advice. You told me not to be a fool and try to play "reformer." You were so right, but I didn't listen. I married the soak and in the last five months I've aged ten years.

I never know where my husband is or what he's doing. He stayed on the wagon exactly five days after our marriage and has been potted ever since.

Any woman who thinks she can give her husband the strength to quit drinking is stupid. This is a job for a doctor. Believe me, I knock—EXHIBIT A

Our Children

Usurping Child's Place Can be Serious Matter

BY ANGELO PATRI

All of us have a way of extending our personalities toward things, places and people. We identify ourselves with things we use.

The seat in school, at the table, in the car, becomes a personal matter, almost a part of oneself. That is why a child clings to his chair, his bench, his place at the table, and resents any attempt to displace him. He, himself, is being displaced and he can't not bear it easily. He should not be asked to do so. Teachers sometimes use seats, definite places in the classroom, as rewards or punishments. That is outside the personal place of the pupil. It does not lose his regular place without his consent. If the idea is to reward him and he feels content about it. When his seat is changed as a punishment he resents it and he usually does his best to gain his old place back once more. Taking a child's "place" from him is a serious matter and is not to be done lightly. Even when guests come to dinner and child must be displaced he should be taken aside, have the situation explained, and his consent assured, otherwise there may be trouble at the table.

Mail Clerk Free on Bond In Theft Case

Admitted to Postal Inspectors He Took Cash, Letters

Donald Holland, 24, 4001 W. Spencer road, Wednesday was released on $500 bond after arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Floyd Jenkins in Milwaukee on charges of mail theft.

Holland, a substitute clerk in the Appleton post office was charged with the theft of only one letter containing $24. But he told Commissioner Jenkins that he had taken letters containing a total of about $350 since last November. He said he needed the money.

Postal Inspector John Cato said about 50 letters and several parcels were found in the trunk of Holland's automobile. The investigation was prompted, Cato said, by reports from postal patrons that mail was missing.

Holland worked in the post office since last October. The loss has not been established. Holland entered no plea at the arraignment and will next appear at an explanation of rights hearing when a date for formal arraignment and pleading will be set before the federal court in Milwaukee. He was taken before the commissioner by Lyle Milligan, U. S. Marshal in Milwaukee.

Holland is married and the father of two children.

Snow or Snow Flurries Are Expected tonight in New England, the Great Lakes area, the upper Mississippi valley and part of the Ohio valley while rain is forecast for the northwest. It will be slightly warmer in the southern plains and the northern Rockies. (AP Wirephoto)

Weatherman Forgot to Check Date

Spring officially begins at 9:06 tonight, but somebody apparently forgot to tell the weatherman.

The Fox Cities had mist and sleet from 6 to 8 o'clock this morning, followed by snow flurries beginning about 10:30. The temperature was right at the freezing mark—32 degrees—at 11 o'clock this morning.

With the wind from the northeast at 16 miles an hour. The overnight low was 27 after a high of 40 Wednesday. Cloudy skies covered Wisconsin again today after another day of freakish snowfalls. Six inches of snow fell in the Wabeno area Wednesday night, leaving roads in a slippery condition, the state highway reported. A snow storm hit the Kenosha area between 3 and 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, dropping a total of four inches on the city. Also reporting precipitation were Milwaukee, Madison, Wausau and Lake Geneva.

Area Forecast
The forecast for the Fox Cities area calls for mostly cloudy and cold, with scattered snow flurries this afternoon tonight and Friday. The low tonight will be in the 20s and the high Friday from 35 to 40. The outlook for Saturday is for partly cloudy and a little warmer.

Snow and sleet also pelted the eastern part of the country on the last day of winter. Up to 16 inches of snow fell in the northern suburbs of Baltimore, with depths from 10 to 15 inches expected in many areas of Maryland and eastern Pennsylvania. A mixture of snow and rain pelted most of the coastal sections from Virginia northward.

Comics' Daughter Wins Divorce

Santa Monica, Calif. — The daughter of television comedians George Burns and Gracie Allen has obtained a divorce on testimony her husband preferred beach life to family life.

Mrs. Sandra Jean Wilhoite, 23, testified Wednesday in support of her cruelty charge that Young James Wilhoite, 28, film production executive, spent "a lot of time at the beach leaving me alone with the children."

The couple married Aug. 8, 1953, at Las Vegas, Nev., and separated in October, 1956. They have two children.

Vice President of Consolidated Dies Of Heart Attack at 57

Wisconsin Rapids — Ralph R. Cole, 57, vice president and treasurer of Consolidated Water Power and Paper company, died Wednesday of a heart attack at Delray Beach, Fla.

Cole and his wife had been vacationing in Florida since Feb. 24.

Survivors include his widow and his two children by a previous marriage, John A. Cole, Wisconsin Rapids, and Mrs. Thomas Durkin, Cincinnati.

Cole had been associated with Consolidated since 1927. He served as comptroller, secretary and director before becoming vice president and treasurer in 1953.

He was secretary and treasurer of Wisconsin River Power company, which operates hydro-electric plants on the Wisconsin river. He also served as secretary of the Dubay Cranberry company.

Cole was a native of Rockford, Ill., and a graduate of the University of Illinois.

REAL ESTATE—SALE

HOUSES FOR SALE

New—
Spic and span. Trouble-free for many years. With newest formica and inlaid linoleum patterns. Light quiet room colors. Pick your own outside paint colors.

Construction—
It is of the best; exceeds Appleton Building Code in many ways. Oak cupboards, oak finish in living room, dining area and kitchen. Divided walls in basement makes a stronger and more stable home, and also gives you a recreation room. Inferior materials and construction does not make for a cheap home in the long run.

Ideal Arrangement—
3 bedrooms, an "L" arranged dining area, large living room. Baths all have built-in vanities and are formica covered and have large plate glass mirrors.

Better Locations—
Located on North, Northwest and South Sides. Handy of schools. All are in quiet neighborhoods of new homes.

Priced Right—
$16,250 - $17,200 - $17,250 - $18,350. This high quality construction should sell for much more. It always pays to buy the best when it comes to homes as you have them a long, long time. Can be purchased as low as $2,000 down.

State Tests City Weights, Measures

Royal C. Hume, Inspector, Makes Trip to Madison

The standards by which all Appleton businessmen's weights and other measures are measured for trueness were themselves tested recently.

Royal C. Hume, city scaler of weights and measures, took his tools of trade—all types of liquid measures and linear standards—to Madison for testing by the state's weights and measures section.

Appleton's weights and measures testing program was praised after the tests by Claire L. Jackson, section chief, "Appleton," he said, "has been making splendid progress in its weights and measures program."

The tools are tested every three or four years. A state-wide "Weights and Measures Week" was held to call attention to one of the most important, but little-known government services.

$150 a Family
"Few people realize," says Hume, "what an important part accuracy of weight determinations and measurements play in their daily lives. The average family has a financial stake estimated at $150 a year in savings by weights and measures enforcement."

"The next time you make a purchase at a store, take a look at the scale upon which your parcel is weighed. You'll notice a small seal on it. That is your protection against getting less than you pay for. It means the scale is correct within the small allowed tolerance. It also protects the merchant from giving away the profits of his business by overweights."

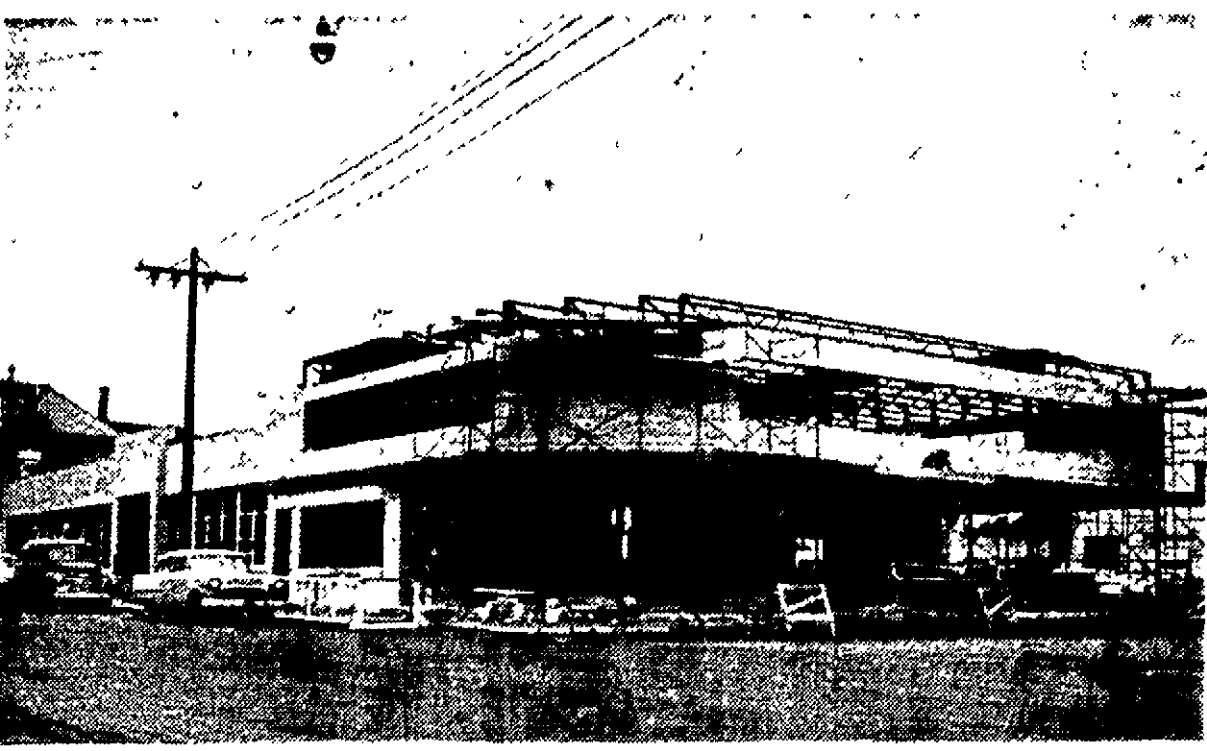

False Ads
Gov. Vernon Thomson joined Jackson in lauding the Appleton program in a letter to Mayor Robert L. Roemer. "The first weights and measures law was passed by congress March 2, 1799. From it stem all present laws. Hume's mandate in Appleton is to insure accurate quantity delivery in all commercial transactions, both wholesale and retail."

To do this he "tests and seals annually all commercial weighing and measuring equipment used in the city."

The equipment he tests includes scales in food stores, confectionaires, dairy plants, coal yards and measures for oil, milk, berries and fruit. He also tests gasoline pumps and all other similar pumps.

While most tests are on an annual basis, Hume weekly spot checks in every field, mostly in packaged goods commodities.

False or misleading advertising also is checked by Hume. He himself has no powers of policing in this field, but notifies the state of infractions.

Contractors Are Shooting for a June 1 completion date on this new Gibson company, Inc., building at 133 S. Superior street. Building was estimated to cost $60,000 when the building permit was taken last year. It will serve in part as a new-car showroom for the auto dealer. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Salary Hikes Granted To School Principals

Increases Range From $500 to $550; Board Also Raises Maximum Pay Limits for Posts

Appleton school principals were granted salary hikes ranging from $500 to $550 for the 1958-59 school year at a special board of education meeting Wednesday night.

Elementary school principals will get $500 more, junior high principals $525 more and the senior high principal $550 more. The vice principal at the senior high school and the director of elementary education each will get $525 more. The board also raised the minimum and maximum salaries for the posts. Salaries for senior high school principals now can range from $7,350 to $9,625. They formerly went from $7,000 to $9,000. The new range for junior high principals is from $6,325 to $8,578.50. This was changed from a low of $6,000 to a high of $8,000. The new salary range for elementary principals is from $5,300 to $8,034. None of the present principals have reached the upper limits.

Percentage Figure

The raises were figured on 120 per cent of the $250 raise in the base pay of beginning teachers for elementary principals, 130 per cent for junior high principals and 140 per cent for the senior high principal. A $200 annual increment brought the increases to the figures listed. Both the vice principal at the senior high school and the director of elementary education were considered in the same bracket as junior high school principals in figuring the increase.

The action came at the special meeting after the board had approved, but then rescinded, larger raises at the March 10 meeting.

Under the plan rescinded, salaries ranged from $8,178.50 for the lowest paid junior high principal to $9,573 for the high school principal. With the new raises, they range from $7,925 to $9,300. Elementary principals' salaries rescinded under the plan ranged from $5,989 to $7,807. Now they go from $5,753 to $7,573.

Adopted Year Ago

The percentage method of determining salary increases for principals was adopted a year ago in an effort to keep principals' salaries enough above the teachers' salaries to provide incentive for the job and to give added compensation for the responsibility.

The final decision came after 3 1/2 hours of discussion on a motion by Edmund Sutherland and a second by Mrs. Myrl Davis. All members present voted for the motion. Victor Sumnicht and John Schneider were absent.

Discussion of salaries for the superintendent of schools, director of business affairs, purchasing agent, superintendent of buildings and groups, custodial workers, clerks, cooks and matrons was held over.

Broker Admits 2 More Thefts

Merle E. Davidson Receives Additional 1-5 Year Prison Terms

Merle E. Davidson, 46, former Appleton real estate broker, today admitted stealing $1,000 from two more former clients.

Davidson, who yesterday was sentenced to 1 to 12 years on one count and received 33 concurrent and consecutive sentences of 1 to 5 years on other charges, was given two more 1 to 5-year terms in Waupun state prison by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiedege to run concurrent with the others.

The former real estate broker admitted taking $500 from Mrs. Lee Tesch, now living in Oconto Falls, and $500 from James D. Rose, 840 1/2 Appleton road, Menasha, Dec. 21, 1956. Both amounts were given him as down payments for homes.

The latest admissions bring to $38,350 the total amount Davidson is accused of stealing from 35 clients.

Outagamie County Sheriff Donald Heinritz said today Davidson probably will be taken to Waupun Friday to begin serving his sentences.

Under state parole rules, Davidson may apply for parole after he has served two years.

Forty-Six Children Undergo Hearing Tests

Forty-six children underwent tests in Outagamie county hearing clinics conducted in Appleton and Kaukauna this week. Mrs. Marion Freemore, county health nurse, said today.

The clinics were sponsored by the bureau for handicapped children and the county medical society.

Election for 8 City Jobs to Be Advertised

Council Wants Public To Know About Posts Open Every 2 Years

The city of Appleton will advertise the little-known election by the council of eight city officials on April 10, the council was told Wednesday.

Mayor Robert L. Roemer announced the decision to advertise in the Post-Crescent after Mrs. Dorothy Stillings, seventh ward alderman, submitted a resolution calling for the advertisement.

She said interested individuals ought to have time to apply for the vacancies. Roemer said the move had been planned by clerk Alden Broehm.

The vacancies will come in these jobs: street commissioner, building inspector, plumbing inspector, electrical inspector, meat inspector, relief director, city home superintendent and matron and city physician and health officer.

The positions must be filled every two years by city council vote. Interested parties may apply to the council before the April 16 meeting and nominations can be accepted from the floor.

Incumbents include Street Commissioner Reinhold Schulze, Building Inspector Walter Bogan, Electrical Inspector Fred Volkman, Plumbing Inspector Reginald Gloude-mans, Meat Inspector Dr. William Madison, Relief Director F. A. W. Hammond, City Home Supt. Lloyd W. Christiansen, City Home Matron Mrs. Christiansen and City Physician and Health Officer Dr. William C. Felton.

Synod Plans New Parish

Lutherans May Begin South Side Mission On 4-Acre Tract

Preliminary discussions concerning possibilities of establishing a second Lutheran church—Missouri synod congregation in Appleton were held this week at Faith Lutheran church.

Faith church is the only Missouri synod parish now operating in Appleton and it was felt growth and demand warranted beginning a mission on the south side.

The synod's North Wisconsin district owns a 4-acre tract north of Candee street extended, directly south of the Schaeffer Dairy barn, and the first unit of the new parish project would be constructed there.

However, plans are not definite at this point, according to the Rev. H. E. Simon, pastor of Faith church, and a starting date has not been determined.

Also on the planning committee are the Rev. Lloyd Goetz, Nekosha, district president and the Rev. A. T. Klug, district executive secretary of missions and stewardship. The Rev. Mr. Simon is a member of the district's board of directors.

Red Cross Plans Swimming Course For Instructors

A 2-part Red Cross course for swimming instructors is planned by the Outagamie county chapter beginning April 1.

The first section, a prerequisite for the second section, will be held at 7 o'clock every Tuesday evening for three weeks beginning April 1 at the YMCA pool.

The second part will be held every evening the week of April 21 in the Lawrence college pool. The latter course will be under direction of an instructor from the midwestern Red Cross office in St. Louis, Mo.

Candidates for the course must be 18 years old and hold a current senior life saving certificate.

Registrations are open now at the Red Cross office.

High School Students Attend Council Meeting

About 10 students of Miss Elizabeth Plowright's American history class at Appleton high school Wednesday night attended the city council meeting.

The students were to hear talks by both mayor candidates, incumbent Robert L. Roemer and First ward Ald. Clarence A. Mitchell, this morning during the class period.
